SHORT SKIRTS, LOW NECKS ARE DEBATED

America's Two Leading Marys At Odds On Almost Every Point Concerning Styles

MARY GARDEN Says:

Short skirts, thin hosiery, low-cut waists are extraordinary style advancements for the health of women.

There is nothing so beautiful as a pretty woman's limb in a black silk stocking.

Short skirts are magnificent. I hope they'll never go out of style.

Every girl thinks she has a shapely foot and ankle, whether it be true or not.

A beautiful shoe and shapely ankle are half of a woman's battle.

A woman should give more attention to her foot wear than all of her other attire.

I loath the use of cosmetics.

The two foremost Marys in the country disagree concerning woman's styles—short skirts and low necks. One says they're fine, and the other abhors them. Read their arguments and then write your views to The Editor of The News.

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE

SAN FRANCISCO—(Special)—The two stellar Marys of America—Mary Pickford, the most popular woman star in filmdom, and Mary Garden, America's foremost prima donna—differ, with but one exception, as much as the distance between the north and south poles when it comes to the question of styles for women.

In an interview here Mary Pickford scored Dame Fashion for her latest decree of short skirts, low-necked dresses and cobweb hosiery. "Little Mary" declared that the down-town shopping parade was a disgrace because of the radical dress of the women.

Taking issue with Mary Pickford in most of her objections to the present styles for women, Mary Garden asserted that the short skirt, low-cut waist and thin stockings with extraordinary advancements for the health of women.

"The skin of our entire body needs fresh air just as our lungs do," said Miss Garden. "What are our sun parlors for? It's the same principle exactly. The average woman who wears a lot of clothes and goes 'bundled up' all the time, as a rule, is not as healthy as the one who wears less clothing and allows her body-skin to open its pores to real air."

Feferring to the short skirts and thin stockings tabooed by Mary Pickford, Mary Garden said:

"There certainly is nothing so beautiful as a pretty woman's limb in a black silk stocking. The thinner the stocking—the prettier.

"The short skirts are magnificent, and for health's sake I hope they will never go out of style."

"Should all girls wear short skirts regardless of the shapeliness of their limbs?" the interviewer blushingly inquired of the prima donna.

"There is no modern girl to-day who thinks she has a lower extremity that is not pretty. But, just like a lot of other things, those who have not the beautiful limbs are always waiting to exhibit them. It is only human nature."

Mary Garden went a step further than did Mary Pickford and took the shoe, or oxford, into discussion.

"A beautiful shoe and a shapely ankle are half a woman's battle," she said. "A woman should take as much pains and even spend more money on her footwear than any other garments. That's what is noticed these days. Ever since I received but $100 a month for salary in Paris I have seen to it that more care was taken with my shoes and stockings than all the rest of my wardrobe."

Another point where the two Marys differ is on evening dress.

Mary Pickford said evening dress should have sleeves of some kind in it.

"By all means they should not have sleeves," says Mary Garden. "All evening dresses should create an atmosphere of 'grande,' and that cannot be attained with sleeves. However, the skirts to evening dresses only should be lengthy."

That the present day styles destroy illusion was another assertion by Mary Pickford that met a stone wall opposition by Mary Garden.

Returning to the subject of the dress of the so-called "young girl" as she appears in street attire, Miss Garden, rising to a standing position, her hands on her hips, with a smile and a wink said:

"Show me a young man or even a middle-aged one who does not pause and admire a pretty girl clad in a natty coat suit, short skirts, pretty silk hose, a nice fitting shoe, and a bit of fur about her neck, when he passes her on the street."

The use of rouge was the only point the two agreed upon. Mary Pickford sounded the one harmonious chord when she said that if girls who apply cosmetics like kalsomine would get more wholesome recreation they would have rosy cheeks and would have no use for beautifying materials.

"I loathe the use of cosmetics," said Mary Garden. "I never use them except when appearing in opera, and would not do so then if I could help it."

MARY PICKFORD Says:

Cob-web hosiery should not be worn on the streets.

The downtown shopping parade is a disgrace.

"Silks" should only be worn when in machines.

All evening dresses should have sleeves of some sort.

Present-day styles destroy illusions.

Low necked dresses and waists should be tabooed.

More exercise for girls and they will have less use for cosmetics.

ELIDA WOMAN IS KILLED BY PENNSYLVANIA TRAIN

Alights from Interurban Car at Stop 7 and Is Hurled to Death by Locomotive—Tragic Fate of Widow of Late Henry Sherrick

Mrs. Mary Sherrick, 72, widow of Henry Sherrick, one of the best known residents of Elida, was killed shortly before noon today when struck by an eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train at stop 7 on the Ft. Wayne, Van Wert and Lima interurban line.

The aged woman alighted from the interurban car, intending to go to the home of a relative. She was required to cross the Pennsylvania railroad tracks just south of the traction line and she apparently did not see an approaching train.

Her body was hurled some distance. A crew of workmen on the interurban line near the scene of the accident brought the injured woman to Lima.

A call was put in for an ambulance to meet the traction car at Grand-av and Main-st.

DIES EN ROUTE TO HOSPITAL

There the woman was transferred to the ambulance and while enroute to the City Hospital, she died. The body was taken to the Williams and Davis morgue, where Coroner Adams was to view it and inquire into the cause of death.

A hurried examination at the hospital disclosed that the woman had sustained a broken right limb and many other injuries.

No one is believed to have seen the tragedy. The woman's screams attracted the attention of section men working nearby.

Altho her clothing was torn, no part of Mrs. Sherrick's body was mangled.

A daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Kessler, Elida, and a son, Lloyd Sherrick Fort Wayne, survive.

Two sisters, Mrs. Lon Brower, Mrs. Barbara Hake and two brothers, E. J. and A. C. Piper, both of Bay City Mich., survive.

DEMOCRATS CALL WAR COUNCIL

Ohio Party Leaders Plan Attack on Reorganization Act

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — A meeting of the Democratic state central and executive committees and county chairmen will be held in Columbus Thursday afternoon for the purpose of making plans for obtaining a referendum on the state reorganization act, sponsored by Governor Davis and passed recently by the legislature.

In announcing the meeting, Democratic state headquarters announced that the emergency clause on the act will be attacked in the courts, and that efforts will be made to obtain sufficient signatures to a petition calling for a referendum upon the act itself.

A statement issued by the headquarters said:

"The emergency clause will be attacked in the courts, it being the opinion of the Democratic leadership that th 'peace, health and safety' of the people of Ohio are more menaced by the bill than without it.

The Democratic party opposes the bill itself because it is not the result of sincere, impartial and unbiased effort to reform Ohio's governmental agencies. Governor Davis desires to become the political czar of Ohio. He will achieve his ambition if the bill becomes a law."

CONFEREES MEET

Ohio Assembly Committees Work on Tax Tangles

COLUMBUS — (By United Press)—Joint conference committees today began an attempt to reconcile differences of the general assembly on the taxation tangle and the general appropriations bill.

The measure as approved in the senate, called for an outlay of $54,000,000 for the two-year period aside from appropriations made in other bills.

During the session which recessed early Sunday morning until May 12, the house passed 61 bills and the senate put thru 34 measures.

GERMANY GIVEN 12 DAYS TO YIELD

Allies Will Send This Ultimatum to Berlin

HOPE TO AVERT INVASION

Washington Waiting for Supreme Council Action

LONDON — (By Associated ress) —Allied nations have virtually decided to send an ultimatum to Germany, notifying her of the amount she must pay in reparations and warning her of the penalties she will incur if payment is not made, or adequate guarantee given. Experts met this morning to put this ultimatum into final form for submission to the supreme council later in the day.

HUGHES MESSAGE

LONDON — (By Associated Press) —M. Jusserand, the French ambassador in Washington, has cabled here the outline of a conversation he has had with Secretary of State Hughes. The American government, the ambassador reported, desires to take no attitude on the reparations question that woul irritate the allied governments. Secretary Hughes said, added the ambassador's message that the state department has no further comunication to make to Germany.

Secretary Hughes indicated a preference that Germany should settle the occupation of the Ruhr valley, as such occupation suggested a kind of war, M. Jusserand's cable said.

The conversation, the ambassador stated, was entirely informal and sympathetic.

Premier Briand said this morning it would take 12 days to complete French military preparations.

"If at the end of that time Germany has not fully yielded to the allies," he declared, "The French troops will march."

"I hope we shall not march alone" he added.

U. S. EFFORTS

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The session of the allied supreme council at London was looked to by officials today for a decision regarding German reparations definite enough to permit the American government to determine its final course in the matter.

Word that a compromise had been effected at London between the British and French with a brief extension of time granted the Germans for payment was expected to be followed by an announcement of the details of the new plan. When these are known, it is expected that Secretary Hughes will be able to decide whether he should take further action.

Official comment continued to be withheld but it was understood that the state department would not abandon its efforts to further a settlement if it considered that conditions warranted such a course.

30,000 QUIT JOBS IN CLEVELAND

Strike is Declared by Building Trades Council

CLEVELAND — (By Associated Press) — Between 25,000 and 30,000 men employed in more than twenty crafts affiliated with the Builders Trades Council left their jobs this morning after reporting for work on building contracts controlled by the Cleveland Building Trades Employers' Association. The men's demand for a continuance of the wage scale for the year ending yesterday, was not met by the employers, who insist that a new schedule proposing a twenty per cent wage cut shall go into effect at once.

Labor leaders in the building trades say they will continue in their efforts to obtain separate agreements with employers and will return to work separately as the agreements are reached.

The employers say they will stand as a unit, however, to enforce the new wage schedule.

Employers say that 10,000 or more men employed in other trades connected with the building industry, but not affiliated with the trades council, will be thrown out of work by the strike.

More than 1,000 men, members of the commercial printing department of the International Typographical Union went on strike here this morning when their demands for a 44 hour week were refused by master printers.

MAY DAY QUIET THRUOUT U.S.

Assures Nation's Return to Normal, Daugherty Says

PATRIOTIC SPIRIT SHOWN

Threatened Reign of Terror Fails to Materialize

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press)—"Quiet observance of May Day thruout the United States, despite attempts to agitate demonstrations thru the distribution of literature, "gives assurance of the return to normal conditions in America," said a statement issued here today by Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty.

The attorney general announced that reports to the department of justice from every section of the country showed a widespread quietude and calmness prevailing. He declared that yesterday had been a typical "American Sunday."

Mr. Daugherty's statement said he had been urged to issue a general public warning against announced demonstrations as had been customary with the department of justice the last several years, but he had refused to do so.

SETTLING DOWN

"My idea was," the statement said, "that if a general warning were given, it would invite, rather than prevent demonstrations. I believe it is best not to agitate the agitator. The country is settling down to a patriotic program. Disturbances of the character threatened would not be popular any place. I think we need less watching and more working in this country.

"I would not say that it is perfectly safe to leave the smokehouse door open, but we are back to normal, almost, as the president of the United States would say, and we have reason to be proud of ourselves."

DAUGHERTY'S STATEMENT

Mr. Daugherty's statement in part follows:

"For a month, the department of justice has been receiving from many parts of the country samples of literature purporting to be sent out for the purpose of agitating some prospective May Day demonstrations. A very strong demand was made upon me to issue a general public warning against such demonstrations.

"I received hourly reports from the department of justice all day Saturday, thruout Saturday night and all day Sunday until midnight. These reports were collected by the department from the most remote parts of the country.

"Every hour gave reassurance of the quietude and calmness widespread thru the land. Yesterday's observance of a quiet Sunday, an American Sunday, gives assurance of the return to normal conditions in America."

ONE KILLED, THREE HURT IN CAR CRASH

Allen Ford Fatally Injured In Wreck as He Urges Driver to Greater Speed In Joy Ride—Garry Merrill Held for Theft of Ora Green's Cadillac Automobile

Allen Ford, colored, was killed, and four other colored men were injured shortly before daylight Sunday when a speeding car in which they were riding hit a telephone pole at W. North and Jameson-ave and was totally wrecked. Garry Merrill, 25, colored, employe of the Auto Laundry, driver of the car, is held by the police, charged with its theft. The big Cadillac belonged to Ora Green, contractor and was purchased two weeks ago.

ONE IS KILLED

The dead

Allen Ford, 1033, W. Spring-st. Legs crushed and body bruised and cut. Left limb amputated at City Hospital, failed to save life.

The injured:

Grafton Taylor, 315 N. Franklin-st, teeth knocked out, head cut and bruised, face disfigured.

Lyle Moxley, 315 N. Franklin-st, cuts and bruises.

J. T. Rolatson, 1033 W. Spring-st, believed by physicians to be internally injured.

Garry Merrill, 839 E. North-st, driver of the death car bruised and cut about the limbs and body.

FATAL END OF JOY RIDE

The joy ride which ended so disastrously, was the windup of a party held at Merrill's home. Merrill volunteered to take his companions home in the car and was to return later for some girls. The car was taken out without permission of the owner, police say.

Ford was seated with Merrill and during the ride constantly urged Merrill to "hit it up."

"Show me some speed; make 'er go 90," he begged Merrill, according to Grafton Taylor, Merrill, he said, stepped on the gas. The car was hitting 65 miles the last time Taylor saw the speedometer. He told police that it must have been going 75 when they left the pavement and collided with a telephone pole.

The car was headed west on North-st, and the scene of the accident was on the curve, which begins at Charles-st. Merrill could not hold the car to the street.

After hitting a pole at North-st, and Jameson-ave, near the corner and breaking it off, the car continued on its way, chopping down a second pole and then turned over.

FORD SOON DIES

Ford was rendered unconscious, his left leg was crushed and the right knee also injured. He was removed to the city hospital and the left limb amputated. He did not regain consciousness and died at 6 a. m. Sunday.

The other occupants of the car wer stunned by the collision. Merrill declares that none of them had been drinking; but the police believe differently. Merrill has been in trouble before, police state. At one time he was sentenced to Mansfield for stealing money while an employe of City hospital.

"I was stunned," Merrill said Monday, "and don't remember what happened. I had agreed to take the others home. I knew Ford, but not the others. Saw some lights at Jameson-ave—I thought it might have been another car," said Merrill, "I guess it swerved out and we hit something."

HELD FOR AUTO THEFT

A charge of stealing an automobile was placed against Merrill in criminal court Monday morning. He pleaded not guilty thru his attorney, Judge Armstrong, and asked for a preliminary hearing.

The hearing will be held at night court at 7 o'clock Tuesday.

Several of those who were with Merrill appeared in court, some of them bandaged up and others limping.

SENATOR NEWBERRY IS FREED BY HIGH COURT

Conviction for Conspiracy in Michigan Election Set Aside

16 OTHERS WIN VICTORY

Congress Declared Without Power to Regulate Primaries

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Conviction of United States Senator Truman H. Newberry in federal courts in Michigan for conspiracy to violate the federal corrupt practices act was set aside today by the supreme court

The conviction of 16 other defendants also was set aside The court held that congress was without power to regulate primaries

Justice McReynolds read the opinion to which Justice McKenna dissented as to the power of congress, but agreed as to the decision

Chief Justice White also dissented from the decision that congress did not have power to control all elections, but agreed that the statute had been 'grossly misconstrued."

COURT ERROR

Justice Reynolds said that the lower court erred in dismissing the demurrer of the defendants.

Obviously the corrupt practices act covers also the primaries and other preliminary acts preceding an election. the court said "The one question here is whether congress may limit expenditures of a candidate The source of such power is in Section Four Article One of the constitution This gives congress the power to regulate the 'manner of holding elections' and not elections

Chief Justice White in his dissenting opinion traced in detail the growth of the election system to show that congress was given the power under the constitution to regulate senatorial elections

'It is essentially a federal matter, not existing before the constitution," said he

SENATOR SENTENCED

The senator was sentenced by the district judge, Clarence W Sessions, to two years' imprisonment at Fort Leavenworth and fined $10,000. This, the extreme penalty of the law, was also placed against two others, the remaining sentences running down to a fine of $1,000.

The case started with 135 indictments returned at Grand Rapids, Nov 29, 1919. It was called for trial Jan 27, 1920, and lasted eight weeks, 85 of the original list of defendants being still before the bar when the jury retired. One man was granted a separate trial because of illness and one was never arrested, having gone to South America before the indictments were returned. Twenty-three were dismissed on motion of Frank C. Dailey, special assistant attorney general, at the close of the government testimony on March 2, 1920, and the next day Judge Sessions freed fifteen more Seenteen were found guilty, 68 acquitted and the cases of ten who pleaded nolo contendere were dismissed after the jury returned its verdict

All the convicted men have been at liberty on bonds since their indictment.

The specific charge against Senator Newberry was that between Dec 1, 1917 and Nov. 5, 1918 he "unlawfully and feloniously did conspire, combine, confederate and agree with divers persons" to violate the Act of June 25, 1910, by contributing sums aggregating $100,000 toward the expenses of his nomination and election It was not necessary, the government asserted, that Newberry should actually give this amount or that he should have had personal supervision of its expenditure, but it was sufficient if he had guilty knowledge that contributions to an illegal aggregate were being accepted for the purpose in view

Included in the scores of expenditures set forth in the indictment were "appropriating and converting to the use of the defendants themselves, large sums of money under the guise of payment of their expenses and compensation for their services . . . . bribery of election officers, unlawful assistance of election officers; bribery of voters; expenses and compensation of Democratic obstructionist candidates; dinners, banquets and other entertainments"

No less than 153 alleged errors were 'assigned' by the defendants in their application for appeal to the highest court ... uing with the refusal of the district court sustain a demur... indictment, these errors follow the course of the trial thruout, the last in order being a criticism of the court for refusing the application for a new trial

At least two more motorcycles are needed but police point out that the purchase of another automobile would be the best investment inasmuch as motorists recognize the cycles as police machines.

Several minor accidents were reported from various parts of the city over the week end as the result of careless driving of motorists, both automobile and motorcycle

Michael Zerro Sues B. & O. R. R. for Injury to Son

Michael Zerro Jr three years old, by his father Michael Zerro Sr, brought suit Monday for $50,000 damages against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company for personal injuries suffered by the child on March 10

When a freight train made a running switch at Third-st the child had his right leg severed above the knee by a box car

Negligence of the railroad company is charged The petition states that no member of the switching crew rode the car which was detached from the engine and that the Third-st crossing was unprotected by gates, gong or bell It is set forth the child was too young and inexperienced to know the danger incurred from being near the tracks.

Zerro the father in another action asks $2,000 damages for hospital and surgical services, incurred by the accident to the boy and for anticipation of the expense he will be put to for artifical limbs and care until the child has reached man's estate

OPTIMISM RULES AT ROTARY MEET

Speakers See Constant Betterment of Business Conditions

Rotarians spoke optimistically on business conditions at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary club, Hotel Norval, Monday.

Speaking of the building situation, Contractor Ora Green stated sufficient work is coming thru under reduced costs to assure Lima workmen a fair amount of employment. Fred T Cuthbert, vice president of the Solar Refining company, speaking of petroleum conditions, stated the demand for light oil products, gasoline and kerosene is about normal, but that heavy oils of the lubricating character, the real barometer for crude oil markets, is still lagging as well as the bi-product, wax, which was heavily bought by Europe during the war.

N L Michael, the clothing prince, had a happy smile when he admitted that the $25 sign for a suit of clothes was again posted in his window, after an absence of four years. He said clothing prices are down thirty percent, and almost at the pre-war level.

E A Williams, president of the Garford Motor Truck company, in a nation-wide view of conditions, stated the crisis has been passed, and while orders are low, they are on the pick-up Readjustment of wages, he said, is being made in all lines of industry, often with full consent of employes The banking organization of America, with its federal reserve system, prevented any panic, and from now on he believes optimism is the keynote.

George T Glover, general sales manager of the Deisel-Wemmer company, stated cigars will remain at present prices until acreage of tobacco in Cuba and Sumatra which had been used for sugar cane and rubber, has been replaced, and this is occurring The output of Deisel-Wemmer cigars is now 2,000,000 a week greater than a year ago.

Frank H Bentz, president of the A J Dunn company said there is urgent demand for homes selling from $6,000 to $7,500, but that his company will do no building this year and that the outlook is for very little speculative home building, He believes 1922 will see the greatest building campaign Lima ever witnessed

Prohibition Becomes Joke to Thousands

"RUM RUNNING from Canada into the United States, especially across the New York state line, has made the Eighteenth Amendment a joke to thousands of citizens, otherwise perfectly law-abiding. The whiskey smugglers are so bold in their extensive operations that conditions are unparalleled."

This is the startling statement in an exclusive story written for the New York Herald and The Lima News by W. A. Davenport, who spent many days and nights on the border with both United States and Canadian authorities who attempt to break up the practice.

Thrilling Battles Day and Night

Day after day, night after night the smugglers and border officials clash, fight and often die. Great cargoes of liquor are confiscated, automobiles are lost by the rum-runners and they laugh as they are fined. Who furnishes their bonds? Who pays their fines? Who buys them the best automobiles to be had, which they lose so cheerfully?

This great story, illustrated, will be published exclusively in The News next Sunday. Do not miss it. Without doubt it is the greatest article yet written on the traffic of liquor from wet Canada into dry United States.

This is only one of the fascinating features which will be found in the Sunday edition of The News in addition to the regular superior telegraph and local news accounts.

STRIKE THREATENS TIE-UP OF U.S. SHIPPING TONIGHT

Seamen's Walkout on Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coasts Is Called—Intervention by President Harding Is Expected During the Day

NEW YORK — (By United Press) — The marine strike, designed to paralyze American shipping on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coast, was growing today, while both sides awaited intervention by President Harding.

The president had intimated that he might appoint a board of arbitration after a conference with members of his cabinet.

Altho the strike became effective at 4 o'clock yesterday, its full effects were not expected to be ascertainable before tonight.

WHAT STRIKE MEANS

If all the members of the International Seamans' Union respond to the call, the following result will be attained:

Thirteen million tons of shipping, including 2,500 United States shipping board vessels will be tied up.

About 125,000 marine workers will be idle.

Thousands of other workers, including longshoremen and harbor employes will be immediately affected.

The daily loss will amount to approximately $1,000,000 a day.

The strike order came after a wage cut of 15 per cent was put into effect at midnight Saturday by the American Steamship Owners' Association, at expiration of the old contract. The owners originally had decreed a 30 per cent reduction. In joint conferences with union officials in Washington, they later agreed to the compromise of the smaller figure, suggested by Admiral Benson, chairman of the shipping board.

APPEAL TO HARDING

The seamen, refusing to accept any reduction, appealed to the president, who was expected to make known this decision within a few hours.

The first effect of the strike in New York was the "resignation" of 6,000 marine engineers. Union officials claimed that 200 ships in this port already had been tied up. Crews at sea have been notified of the strike order by wireless and are expected to join the walkout at completion of their voyages.

Additional police were stationed along the water front to guard against possible violence. Benson had made known his intention to operate shipping board craft by recruiting crews from men now out of employment.

According to union officials the strike had been joined by seamen in Philadelphia, Boston, Bridgeport, New Orleans, Mobile, Tampa, Jacksonville, Pensacola, Norfolk, Key West, Galveston, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Ore. Honolulu and Balboa Canal Zone.

Students of the Blume high school agricultural department witnessed a motion picture demonstration on corn root rot here Friday by Prof. E. E. Clayton, plant pathologist of C. S. U. It may result in the holding of a utility corn show next winter, says H. L. Andrew, county farm agent.

The county board of education granted a petition of Union-tp residents for the transfer of seven square miles of territory of Union tp to the Waynesfield school district. Transfer will add $2,000,000 to the valuation of the latter.

Practically every Wapakoneta physician will attend the session of the state medical association at Columbus on May 3, 4 and 5. A free clinic for cataract will be a feature. A number of cataract-infected persons of Auglaize-co will receive free taeatment.

SCIENCE INCREASES RETURN FROM ORCHARD

COLUMBUS — Making from five to 40 apples grow where only one grew before, the Ohio State University agricultural extension service last summer demonstrated that an Ohio orchard may be worth as much as $2300 in one season, according to a bulletin issued.

The modern agricultural miracle was performed in the orchard of I. E. Davy of Wayland, Portage-co, who placed his 51-tree orchard under the care of University specialists. He pruned, sprayed and fertilized his trees by the latest scientific methods, and and was rewarded by a crop of 670 bushels. In 1917, this orchard yielded 19 bushels, in 1918, 65 bushels, and in 1919, 150 bushels. Mr. Davu sold his crop on the trees at 75 cents a bushel, and after deducting $157 for production costs, he had a net profit of $345 left, which is a 10 per cent return on an investment of $2300, the bulletin points out.

EDUCATORS FAVOR NEW GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT

COLUMBUS — A committee composed of professors of Ohio State University who are members of the American Association of University Professors have reported favorably on the Smith-Towner bill, providing for a department of education, with a secretary in the president's cabinet, and recommended the creation of such a department.

The principles adopted by the committee provided for an appropriation from the federal government for educational purposes equal to that furnished by the state, the creation of a department of education and for the inclusion of the federal board for vocatfonal training in the new department.

EFFECT OF PEACE ACT FEARED

Germans Don't Want American Forces Withdrawn

PREFER YANKS TO FRENCH

Regret to Lose U. S. Soldiers as Customers, Too

COBLENZ — (By Associated Press) — The Germans of Coblenz have been speculating with deep interest on the possible effect of the Knox resolution in Congress declaring that a state of war no longer exists between America and Germany.

Whether the adoption of that resolution would cause the withdrawal of the American forces in Germany has been the main subject of discussion in the German press of the occupied territories.

DON'T WANT FRENCH

The correspondent, after interviewing the most representative Germans of all classes in Coblenz, can say that to the majority of Germans here, the withdrawal of the Americans would be regarded as regrettable.

In administrative and political circles, they have been living in dire fear of the French taking over the area which would be abandoned by the Americans. "If we must have occupation let it be American," is the consensus of opinion.

Among tradesmen and shopkeepers the feeling of regret would be unanimous. "The tailor next door has become a millionaire," said the book store proprietor with mingled feelings of administration and envy, to the correspondent. "That book store man is sure reaping a paper mark harvest," was the way the tailor put it.

There is only one class of the population which looks upon the presence of American soldiers darkly. They are the young men who did not participate in the late war. Between them and the average doughboy there is no love lost and no fraternization. From time to time there are even a few clashes. The doughboy has it that the young German is jealous of the former's popularity with the fraulelns. Others who look deeper say the larger cause is that these young men relatiyely have not suffered from the war and they are looking to the future in a spirit of revenge.

APRIL "FALLS DOWN" AS "MONTH OF MARRIAGES"

April, next to June in popularity as a marriage month, lost its standing this year for the number of happy couples who applied at the court house for licenses.

But 43 permits were issued the past month, according to announcement made Monday by Miss Jessie P. Miller, Cupid's aid in the Probate office. Last year April had licenses to her credit.

The number is one of the smallest of any month of this year.

PREFER U. S. GOOD WILL TO KING

Greeks Are Fearful of American Displeasure

WOULD SACRIFICE THRONE

Waging War Against Turkey to Save Their Face

ATHENS — (By Associated Press) — The Greek campaign now in progress in Turkey was undertaken as the only way to avoid the possible loss to Greece of Thrace and Smyrna and at the same time to give King Constantine the eclat of a great military movement.

The decision of the Supreme Council at the conference in London in February to send a commission to Thrace and Smyrna to inquire into the composition of the populations there filled the Greeks with disappointment and despondency.

Under the proposed revision of the Treaty of Sevres, Greece saw itself about to be reduced to its 1912 proportions, its prowess as a Mediterranena power nullified and its friendship with the Allies alienates. It considered the territorial losses with which the country was threatened a staggering price to pay for Constantines return to the throne.

CLASSES AWAKENED

All classes awakened to the realties of the situation. They recognized that without financial support from the great powers, the country must become an impotent peninsular state. The absence of recognition by Greece's great neutral friend, the United States was a particularly painful realization to the people. Many Greeks, even some of the most ardent Royalists, were willing to sacrifice their King if it would win back the good will and support of the big nations, particularly the United States and England.

The Venezelist press has taken a sombre view of the situation ever since the London conference and accused the government organs of having intentionally misled public opinion.

The Royalist newspapers naturally endeavored to minimize the effect of the decisions of the Supreme Council and attributed the change in the attitude of the powers toward Greece to every reason except the real one. They inferred that Great Britain's leniency toward Turkey was the result of pressure brought to bear upon England by her Mussulman subjects.

DECLARE FOR WAR

Closing thir eyes to the Allied edicts regarding Smyrna and Thrace, the same journals declared that the war against Turkey must go on. Greece, they said, must take matters into her own hands and fight the Kemalists alone and not only advance to Angora but also to Sivas.

The question of money has been barely mentioned. Hints are thrown out and there will be no difficulty in finding the necessary funds in America and England.

In the meantime the cost of living is mounting and commercial Greece faces a serious prospect. Imports exceed exports fourfold, the treasury is depleted and the Greek drachma has been selling at 14 to the dollar. The poor man, and even the people who were comfortably off before the present chaos, find it burdensome to pay for the common necessaries of life.

The Greek people did not grudge the sacrifices made during the last five years so long as they felt it would result in a greater Greece. But today they are becoming convinced that they have been led into a situation which has reduced the country to a fourth-rate power, prostrated its economic life and forfeited to Greece the friendship of the nations of the world.

ROSE AND HIS SON BOTH BENEFIT

Money Can't Buy Better Medicine Than Tanlac, He Says

"My son and I have both tried Tanlac and there's no guesswork about it, it's the greatest medicine made," said Edgar Rose, a well-known carpenter living at 1262 Fifth Ave., Akron, recently.

"Norman, who is fourteen years old, has been a frail, weakly child all his life. He has always had stomach trouble and at times he had severe attacks of indigestion. His appetite was poor and the little he ate always seemed to turn against him.

"The flu is what wrecked my health. It left me all run-down, with my nerves upset and my stomach out of order. I never wanted to eat, and I was bothered a lot with constipation. At night I would actually wake up every half hour, it seemed to me, and then in the morning I felt completely fagged out.

"But Tanlac was just the thing for me and it took right hold of my case. My appetite came back bigger than ever and now my stomach does not trouble me at all. My nerves are steady and I sleep like a log. I have been built up all around and feel like a difefrent person.

"But Tanlac was just the thing for me and it took right hold of my case. My appetite came back bigger than ever and now my stomach does not trouble me at all. My nerves are steady and I sleep like a log. I have been built up all round and feel like a different person.

"Tanlac helped Norman just like it did me and he is looking better in every way. His appetite picked up and he hasn't had one of those attacks of indigestion since he started on Tanlac. I'm convinced that money can't buy a better medicine and I give it my heartiest endorsement."—Adv.

TO ASK NEW TRIAL FOR LAMPY

Inheritance Tax Waived in Marsh Bequest

VAN WERT — Motion for a new trial in the case of the state vs John Lampy will be filed in common pleas court Monday, Clem V. Hoke, one of Lampy's attorneys announced today. Lampy was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury. If the new trial is not granted Lampy will probably be sentenced by Judge H. W. Blachly the first of the week.

Following the action of the council of Van Wert and the Ridge-tp trustees in waiving their rights to inheritance tax on the four million dollar estate left by the late George H. Marsh to found an orphans' home, the house and senate at Columbus passed a joint resolution Saturday morning waiving state rights to such a tax.

It is believed that this opens the way for construction of the home as soon as the year required by law to administer an estate is past, Attorney O. W. Kerns says. Action will probably be begun about the first of September.

Probate Judge Oscar A. Balyeat suffered a fractured skull when he fell to the pavement and struck his head on an iron grating here Saturday. Early in the winter the judge sustained a fractured shoulder from a similar fall in his office.

MEXICO SEETHES AGAIN

FIRING squads are busy these spring days in Mexico. In the early hours of the morning, before the chill of the night season is dissipated by the returning sun, there is a shuffling of feet, the adobe wall at the rear, the bandaged eyes of the political prisoners, the muzzles of menacing, death dealing rifles. There is a volley of shots. The forms of the victims crumple to the earth. The story is ended—for those who face the rifles. But life goes on.

The old cycle is swinging around again. The hopeless peon becomes a law-breaker, the law-breaker becomes a bandit and the bandit finds a leader and becomes a revolutionist. There is never a lack of would-be leaders in Mexico. That is normalcy in the southern republic. It has been going on for ten years. There is a familiar ring to the news. The era of good feeling is a fleeting thing in Mexico. A train is constantly being laid to the powder barrel.

Just now the Mexican president has as his problems, a Calles, labor troubles, bolshevvist question and an American "slacker menace, all in addition to the immemorial troubles of an old and constantly troubled land. He needs and wants American recognition, but hesitates to take it on American terms. Politics seethes in Mexico, where it turns to the rifle rather than to the ballot.

Calles, minister of the interior, the protector of the "slacker" who fled to that land from America, seeks the head of Obregon. And those cowardly gentry, the followers of Lenine and Trotzky, who won the race to the border against the draft officials in 1917 and 1918, are back of Calles to a man. Proper relations between America and Mexico would bring evil days to these birds who displayed the white feather.

With Obregon on one side and Calles on the other, both crouching for a leap, stirring times are ahead for Mexico. There is a move and counter-move, bribery and counter-bribery. Indeed, it is a unhappy country beyond the Rio Grande.

GOLD IN EUROPE

WHEN Carter Glass was secretary of the U. S. treasury and before the post-war spending fever had taken hold in this country in 1919, with liquid capital plentiful, our foremost bankers as well as those of Europe sought to establish reconstruction credits to finance the purchase of American goods and thus hasten a return to normal international trade.

Glass intimated to Europe that credits to finance trade were not feasible and that in the absence of goods to send us in exchange for our products Europe might find it advantageous to send gold.

With an aggregate of 6 to 7 per cent. of gold reserve behind its swollen paper currencies, it looked like Europe was a poor place from which to attract gold payments. But Glass was right. Europe had the gold and is letting loose of it now, even tho it is badly needed there. The United States is getting it.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY

ANNOUNCEMENT made that National Hospital Day is to be observed in Lima, indicates that the humanitarian institutions of this city are keeping pace with a national movement. At St. Rita's in conjunction with the exemplification of the spirit of the day, a class will be graduated from the nurse's training school and all departments of the hospital will be open for public inspection.

May 12—National Hospital Day—marks the anniversary of the birth of the most celebrated nurse in history, Florence Nightingale, born 101 years ago. It is fitting that her birthday should be thus observed, for in the modern sense she is the founder of the hospital. She gave 90 years of life to service of suffering humanity. Her entire existence was one of self-sacrificing service and the hospitals which owe their modern structure to her initiative and which personify the principle of her life, should by all means celebrate the national day on the anniversary of her birth.

Back of the movement to observe the day in a special manner is a desire to inform the public of the work involved daily in the task of relieving the sick and suffering in the 8,000 hospitals of the United States and Canada. There is always need of more hospitals and more funds for those already established. Much aid that would be otherwise forthcoming is withheld, due to the fact that those who refuse or neglect to help, have no real understanding of what the hospitals are doing; they know nothing about the great work undertaken for humanity.

The only reason anyone is ever turned away from a hospital is due to lack of room. These institutions are always crowded. It behooves every community to not only support in a proper manner its hospitals, but likewise to look forward to the time when new institutions will be provided and the sphere of usefulness of the present ones widened.

CAUTION NECESSARY

WHEN Lima voters signified their desire to change to the new form of government for this city, which will become effective the first of next year, hundreds did so with the belief that it would eliminate politics of the old order. Petty fights, bickerings and boyish tactics on the part of this party or that had disgusted those who have the interest of the city at heart and who want to see it progress.

Lines are being drawn now for the coming election of commissioners who will replace the old council. So far there have been no definite announcements as to candidates. It is the desire of many that there be a clean sweep of the old political rings and that a new order be established with a clean slate to take up the reins and give the new government a good start.

The success or failure of the new system will depend to a great extent upon the beginning. If a commission and manager are chosen who give a poor business administration it will be an uphill pull for years. If the opposite is true, the going will be much smoother. For that reason care must be exercised in the selection of those who will have the honor of selling the idea to Lima as a permanent proposition.

STRENGTH

A little mirth, a little care,
A burden now and then to bear,
A passing smile, a fleeting tear,
These mark the days of every year
And life is good or life is bad
According to the faith we've had.

Blue skies and sunshine come and go,
The cheerless winds of winter blow
Across the path of life, and then
The springtime blossoms bud again,
And all must carry sorrow's cross,
For who would gain must suffer loss.

Life rests us that we may endure;
There is no door that is secure
Against despair and hurt and woe,
All these the richest man must know.
And at the last his worth is known
According to the strength he's shown.

Nor gold nor fame can keep away
The tempest when the clouds grow gray,
All that can live unto the last
Are the memories of the happier past;
Thus life is good or life is bad,
According to the faith we've had.

What the Stars Predict

Only the morning hours of this day are lucky.

Those planning to start on a journey on this day should postpone it, if possible, particularly if it is concerned with business matters.

There is an indication that dissatisfaction regarding the administration of railroad matters will continue, and that those who depend upon freight transportation will meet much difficulty.

It is predicted that the trouble regarding the management of the railroads, will lead either to better legislation or wiser direction.

At the present time women should avoid attempting to carry out any ambitious plans.

Actors and actresses may experience in the near future a discouraging season, when it is hard to get employment.

This is not a lucky wedding day. Not the heart, but the head, is likely to rule allegiances made at this time.

Great heat and many electrical storms will mark the summer.

Persons whose birthday this is, will have a happy and successful year, during which travel and change will lead to good fortune.

Children born today may be inclined to be extravagant, and will succeed if they work under the direction of others.

HEALTH HINTS

—By William Brady, M. D.—

It used to tickle my dad a lot when I was toddling about in my first boots and a nice old lady who then lived nearby would watch me sloshing around in the snow or water in the yard in the early spring, notice how carelessly and joyously I sat splash down in it and went right on shoveling my basket full, and then ask mother: "But aren't you afraid he'll take his death o' cold?"

To tell the honest truth, I guess mother was just a wee bit afraid 'way down deep. Mothers are queer, that way. I remember dad telling how, quite a spell before I arrived here, mother used to hurriedly cover her eyes and look worried whenever Topsy, our ill sorrel horse, acted a little skittish on the road when mother was along. Of course mother knew as well as dad that all that "marking" stuff is pure superstition, yet—well, as I say, mothers are a-bit queer about some things. But never for a moment did mother take this nice old lady's hint seriously. "Why, no" she would reply to the old lady's remark, "he is really quite bright, an' if it becomes uncomfortable out there in the wet I'm sure he knows enough to come in." I never did happen to catch anything but the diptheria, the measles, the whooping cough, the chicken pox, the mumps and the scarlet fever—and of course no nice old lady would venture to charge those particular respiratory infections to cold or wet.

The old lady's anxiety often gave dad his cue for a preachment on that threadbare hobby of his, the catching cold delusion. He observed one day when talking with her about my aquatic tendencies, that it was certainly striking how few children exposed to cold and wet suffered ill effects as compared with the great frequency of nose, throat and chest troubles among children who were carefully protected from such exposure.

Never until I entered school where so many respiratory infections are freely passed around, did I have a severe illness. It was in school that I contracted all those respiratory infections. I have just mentioned. It is in school that the great majority of children are infected with so called children's diseases. One reason why such infection is so indiscriminately passed about in school is the weak policy of public health authorities who have control of the sanitary administration in our schools. These authorities cling with the obstinacy of desperation to the vague, mystical and now surely discredited notion that somehow some alleged "colds" are not communicable and are perhaps actually caused by drafts, dampness or exposure to cold. This superstition affords a sufficient excuse for admitting children to school who obviously have some such disease, or are coming down with some respiratory infection or have scarcely recovered from such an illness. And these children are the busy little carriers who keep the "children's diseases" going and make business brisk for the family doctor.

It means more than that.

ARE WHISKERS COMING BACK?
Just the other day we noted a group photograph of the faculty of a highbrow college. Nine of the gentlemen present wore whiskers of various forms, and the tenth had a pained look as tho he were straining to raise a set. When our celebrated institutions of learnings get to doing it, it is time to sit up and take notice. Whiskers may be almost as much of a menace as Bolshevism, much more so, in fact, as they are liable to crop out in any family

It has always been a question whether the whiskers make the man or the man makes the whiskers. The majority of people, we believe, are set against an epidemic of facial forests in this country. It is hard enough to meet any man face to face now, and some men are very hard to find, but if it comes we must meet it with fortitude and try to get them placed on the luxury tax list, which seems to be the best way to kill anything off in this country.

JACKIE COOGAN STARS IN "PECK'S BAD BOY"

"The Greater Claim," "Made in Heaven" and "Chickens" Please Film Fans

Style Show Featured at Regent —Ed Wynn Carnival Comes at End of Week

(By Esther Wagner

IMAGINE yourself a boy of six. Your father wears a lumbago pad. He is a respected church member. Far be it from him to be seen with playing cards!

You put red ants into the lumbago pad, and playing cards into his pocket. He goes to church. The church is warm. The ants bestir themselves. Your father bestirs himself. Out spill the cards. Tableau!

Jackie Coogan does that in the new movie of "Peck's Bad Boy."

You've heard of Coogan.

He's a new personality in the movies, who appeared first with Charles Chaplin in "The Kid."

The recollections of many elderly men will be revived by the mention of "Peck's Bad Boy."

It was published in 1882.

That was a period when earnest folk were just as much disturbed about books as earnest folk of the present period are disturbed about the movies. And a great many were convinced that youngsters surely would come to a bad end if they read "Peck's Bad Boy."

The film story, like the original book, is episodic. Each episode pictures some boyish prank.

Queenie, a dog, follows the boy thru the story. The dog is an ordinary cur, but, as dogs go, a master player. The dog shares honors with Jackie Coogan just as Jackie shares honors with Chaplin in "The Kid."

"The Greater Claim"

THERE is something most human, honest and convincing about this little picture, "The Greater Claim." It revolves around a millionaire, his son and his son's wife, and later on, around a darling little boy, who, after he once steps into the story, completely dominates it.

The tale, itself, is not new. "Chuck" Everard, twenty and wealthy, falls in love with Mary Smith, a chorus girl. Everard senior disapproves the match, naturally, and succeeds in kidnapping his son, leaving his little wife in the overwhelming certainty that he has deserted her.

To attain revenge, she proceeds to disgrace the family name and does a pretty good job of it until little Dicky arrives. From then on it is a struggle to make both ends meet, and in desperation she appeals to one Harry Porter, a shady lawyer, who promises to fix everything for her. Father-in-law consents to taking the child and rearing it, but refuses to aid the mother, whom he has never seen.

Well, he discovers that the child must have a nurse and Mary, under a fictitious name, applies for and is given the job. There, my dears, is the plot. You know that young son is going to arrive home at a crucial moment, foil the villianous lawyer, denounce the blonde who says she is little Dicky's mother and all the rest of it.

Miss Alice Lake as Mary Smith, is pretty and appealing most of the time. Her peccadilloes never reach a messy stage and you are pretty sure, as you follow her thru the reels that time will prove her a thorobred. Jack Doughtery as her husband, is just so-so and little Richard Heidrick as Dicky, is a perfect darling. Scenery, sets, etc., are good and the director knew his business.

"The Greater Claim," therefore stacks up as an entertaining, worthwhile production. At the Sigma theatre today and until Thursday.

"Made In Heaven"

ONE of the breeziest and most human stories that Tom Moore has ever appeared in is "Made in Heaven," from the stage play of the same name by William Hurlburt. We've seen him as a policeman, a street-cleaner and in numerous other roles, but it takes Tom himself to make a pleasing and debonair fireman, which is the role he portrays in this current production.

William O'Gara, just over from Ireland, discovers that he has talents as a fireman. Didn't he go and extinguish a fire that started after the gas exploded in his rooming house? As a fireman, he is a great success, almost immediately rescuing a beautiful young society girl, who is having troubles of her own, it seems. Father, being financially embarrassed, wishes to sell his daughter to the highest bidder, whom, it seems, is not desired by the lady in question. To save the girl, O'Gara offers to marry her, promising to leave her right after the ceremony and not to trouble her until she wishes it.

The marriage, however, is a fake, as Claudia learns but romance steps in and brings about a real marriage this time, one that was truly "made in Heaven." Nice light story, you see, and splendid pickin's for Mr. Moore.

The supporting cast is an excellent one. There's Helene Chadwick as Claudia, the society girl, whom the fireman saves; Renee Adoree, the perfectly new bride of Mr. Moore, Herbert Prior and Charles Eldridge; all capable and right up to snuff.

"Made in Heaven" is pervaded by the authentic Irish charm. Its humor is continuous and contageous and will keep you in a cheerful frame of mind for days, see if it doesn't. At the Regent.

"Chickens"

THIS is the time of year when suburbanites, city-ites and everybody else is interested in chickens. Chickens! Just mention the word and someone's face lights up and proceeds to tell you about the fine bunch of chickens he has and all about 'em. Whether you are interested or not, you ask him what kind they are and then he's off. He gives you minute details and instructions as to how to make 'em lay, break them of setting, cure them of wanderlust and unfaithfulness, etc. When you leave him you have everything about chickens at your finger's ends, almost.

All of which is apropos, tho it may not seem so, to the discussion of Douglas MacLean's new picture, "Chickens," which was taken from a Saturday Evening Post Story entitled 'Yacoma Yillies."

Deems Stanwood, being bowled over by a pair of eyes belonging to a young lady interested in the chicken business, goes into the poultry business on the ranch next hers. His ignorance being only one bound behind his love, which is immense, his experiences are strange and unusual. Funny, too, and bound to intrigue you if you like Mr. MacLean and his pollyannic miseries.

Tho Doris May is conspicuous by her absence, Gladys George makes a pleasing substitute. The other members of the cast are all clever folks and the subject matter of "chickens" is bright, snappy and well put on.

However, if you're a chicken fancier don't follow too closely the rules of the game as suggested in this picture. Rat poison may give the clucking darlings lots of pep and make 'em lay—but I hardly think so.

"Chickens" is the Faurot's feature offering today.

The Regent Style Show

A MOST attractive and beautifully staged style show, displaying all that is new and chic in summer apparel, was presented yesterday at the Regent theatre, in addition to the feature film presentation.

Six graceful young ladies, all of this city, were chosen to display the beautiful frocks and suits, under the direction of the Leiser company. Miss Baum in an imported tailored suit and a green sports suit, won much praise. Miss Hoyer appeared in two beautiful creations and was well-received. One of her frocks was a Spanish fringed sports dress in navy and tomato, with hat to match, the other a marvelous little white organdie, trimmed with motifs of black lisere ribbon.

Miss Shook in a robin-egg taffeta, and a honey dew and white sports dress, was most inviting, while Miss Eckert in a demure little pink-checked gingham and white organdie combination, was charming.

A green sports coat, worn with a white flannel skirt, was beautiful as displayed by Miss Geichler, while a rose taffeta with draperies of organdie was dainty and attractive. A little Roshanara crepe sports dress and a rose dotted organdie, as worn by Miss Parker were stunning.

The hast were from Miss Bland's Hat Shop and the shoes from the Quality Boot Shop.

This charming display of the newest conceits in wearint apparel for milady will continue until Tuesday evening. The young ladies appear twice daily, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8:30 in the evening.

FESTIVAL DRAWS BIG CROWDS

Elks' Event Good Card—Tuesday is Wapakoneta Day

Crowds and receipts for Saturday the first day of the Elks May Festival, were nearly double those of the first day of the previous Carnival. Fun reigned thruout the Elks' Home and the S. R. O. sign was hung out at every booth.

Harry Moeller, the man who slugs "to beat the band," was one of the big features of the entertainment. He sang with band accompaniment from the front of the Elks home and now and then sang with the orchestra in the ballroom. He has a lyric tenor voice of great power and is proving a favorite attraction.

A big day is being planned for Saturday. The inmates of the Children's Home will be the guests of honor the afternoon of that day and many features are being provided for their entertainment. Margaret Mae Moeller, a youthful prima-donna, will sing for them, accompanied by the orchestra and a number of the funniest clowns ever collected together here will entertain them with their antics. Each child will receive a balloon, candy and a novel toy. Harry Moeller will also sing.

Monday's program includes band concerts, dancing and other novelties of all kinds. Tuesday will be Wapakoneta day.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

Viola Dana getting the catcher's signal.

"What shall it be? An in, out, spit or passed ball?" asks Viola Dana as she faces the batter in a contest on the Metro lot. This does not happen in her newest picture, however. She merely plays ball to keep fit and trim for her strenuous picture work. Her picture has nothing to do with baseball and sand lot spring training.

"Home Stuff" is the name of her next story. It was adapted for the screen from the story by Frank Dazey and Agnes Johnson.

MAUDE ADAMS TO PRODUCE.

Although Maude Adams has refused all offers to appear in motion pictures, it became known last week that the distinguished actress will become a producer of films. For some time she has been interested in a new process for making natural color motion pictures, and will probably direct the first production herself. Miss Adams will not appear in this film herself, and it is not thought that this work will interfere with her forthcoming return to the stage, which has been announced for next fall.

ENDA PURVIANCE TO FORE.

Having established Jackie Coogan on the pedestal, Charlie Chaplin now plans to give Edna Purviance her big chance for fame and fortune. Miss Purviance will have a part of unusual opportunities in Chaplin's next two-reeler.

THE YOUNGER SET.

Wesley Barry and Jackie Coogan are in New York. These youngster have created such a furore that all the grown-up motion-picture stars are mad with jealousy.

MISS FREDERICK'S RETURN TO STAGE.

Although no definite word is forthcoming, it is generally understood that Pauline Frederick plans to return to the stage next season in an A. H. Woods production of "Tin Pan Alley," by Leroy Clemons and Thomas Grant Springer.

FROM THEIR MEMOIRS.

As a boy in Louisville, Ky., Tod Browning sold the Courier-Journal on the streets. D. W. Griffith and Thomson Buchanan served in the city room under Henry Watterson.

TRIAL DATE SET

McGannon Faces Court on Perjury Charges Next Monday

CLEVELAND — (By Associated Press) — William H. McGannon, former chief justice of the municipal court, will go on trial on a charge of perjury in criminal court next Monday. The date was set by Judge Florence Allen, at the request of Assistant County Prosecutor Cassidy this morning.

A medical board, selected by the prosecutor's office, will be asked to determine the physical condition of McGannon, if a plea is made that he is too ill to appear in court for trial, officials of the county prosecutor's office said.

YOUTHFUL PRIMA-DONNA AT FESTIVAL

Miss Margaret Mae Moller, six years old, termed the youngest prima-donna in America, will be the feature attraction at the Elks May Festival Friday and Saturday. She possesses a wonderful musical ability and has been a favorite wherever she has appeared. The little girl has also appeared in the movies, but because she believes that an education is worth more than fame, she is now in school. She is the daughter of Harry Moller, the man who sings "to beat the band."

LOTUS CLUB HOSTESS AT GAYER HOME

(BY ROSEMARY CHRISTEN

DURING the past two years, three of the most prominent of the women's clubs of the city, the Lotus, Arbutus and Woman's clubs, have frequently arranged for joint meetings for the purpose of enjoying an address, delivered by an eminent lecturer, whom they have previously engaged for the occasion, or for some other form of entertainment equally as enjoyable.

Probably one of the most delightful of these gatherings was that which was held Monday afternoon at the attractive country home of Mrs. Harry L. Gayer, Shawnee, at which the Lotus club entertained the members of the Arbutus and Woman's Club.

A program of unusual interest and charm was arranged for the pleasure of the guests. Miss Violet Bradley favored with several pretty piano numbers, while her house guest, Miss Emily Getzman, Minneapolis, Minn., sang several lovely selections. Mrs. J. K. Bannister read selections in her usual pleasing manner, while Miss Elizabeth Breckenridge delighted all with her artistic dancing.

At the conclusion of the program a dainty repast was served.

✧ ✧ ✧

Members of the American Community club, organized for the purpose of promoting the interests of the young people of Allentown socially as well as educationally held their first meeting in the M. E. church, Allentown, Saturday. Oliver Milton was chosen president and John Brenneman, vice president. Meetings will be held the last Thursday in each month at the home of the various members.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. Clarence Miller will entertain the members of her bridge club at her home in St. James-apts Monday evening.

✧ ✧ ✧

Miss Violet Bradley, Shawnee, has as her house guest Miss Emily Getzman, Minneapolis, Minn.

✧ ✧ ✧

Miss Dorothy Hunter was hostess at bridge to a group of friends at her home on W. North-st Saturday evening. At the conclusion of play, with Miss Hope Hollister and Edmund Taylor holding high scores, the hostess served a dainty repast.

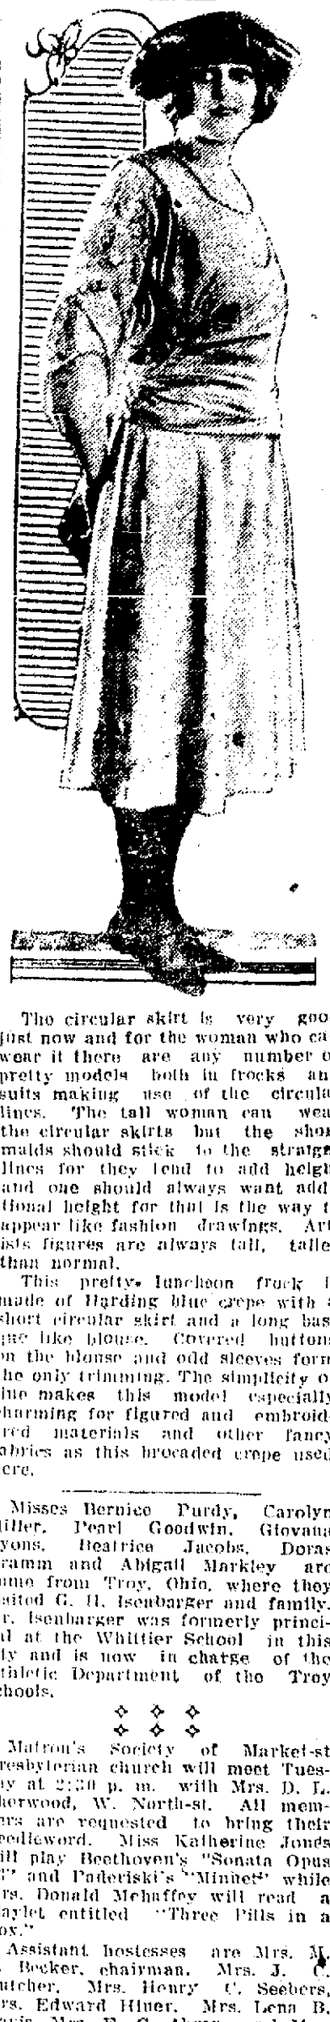
LUNCHEON FROCK OF HARDING BLUE BROCADED CREPE



The circular skirt is very good just now and for the woman who can wear it there are any number of pretty models both in frocks and suits making use of the circular lines. The tall woman can wear the circular skirts but the short maids should stick to the straight lines for they tend to add height and one should always want additional height for that is the way to appear like fashion drawings. Artists figures are always tall, taller than normal.

This pretty luncheon frock is made of Harding blue crepe with a short circular skirt and a long basque like blouse. Covered buttons on the blouse and odd sleeves form the only trimming. The simplicity of line makes this model especially charming for figured and embroidered materials and other fancy fabrics as this brocaded crepe used here.

Misses Bernice Purdy, Carolyn Miller, Pearl Goodwin, Giovana Lyons, Beatrice Jacobs, Doras Gramm and Abigail Markley are home from Troy, Ohio, where they visited G. H. Isenbarger and family. Mr. Isenbarger was formerly principal at the Whittier School in this city and is now in charge of the Athletic Department of the Troy schools.

SOCIETY AND BUSINESS DO NOT CONFLICT, SHE SAYS

NEW YORK — (Special) —"I have just been waiting for my children to grow up, so that I might be able to go into business."

So says Mrs. Elsie Waterbury Morris, wife of Gouverneur Morris, author. She is the latest society woman to aim at a listing in Bradstreet's as well as the Social Register.

Mrs. Morris conducts Primrose House, a shop where women may receive facial treatment. She said yesterday:

"My children are ten years and fourteen years old. They go to school, take dancing lessons, go riding and do innumerable other things at which I couldn't attend them, even if I wished to.

"So what is the use of staying at home and twindling my thumbs? I have been waiting for years to go into just this sort of thing.

"I find that I can run a business and still perform all my social and maternal duties faithfully. The secret is to get the right kind of people to work for you."

Mrs. Gouverneur Morris

"Primrose House" plans to duplicate itself in big cities all over the world. Mrs. Morris will superintend all the details of the business.

EXPECTS TO ENJOY WORK

As vice-president and manager of the corporation, she expects to have a big job, but she looks forward to it with keen relish. She explained:

"I love outdoor athletics and business isn't very different from sports. And I love the idea of making women more happy by making them look better."

TIPS ON COOKING

Meat cut up for stewing gives a richer gravy than when cooked in one piece. It is a good plan to leave one solid piece of meat to slice cold if the supply is sufficient for two meals.

The cold meat should be left in the stock until ready to serve, so as to retain the moisture, but any vegetables that are in the stock must be removed, or the flavor will be too strong.

Emergency biscuits may be made by slightly increasing the amount of liquid dropping the dough from a spoon onto a greased baking sheet or into small muffin pans.

In this way time is saved that is otherwise used for rolling and cutting, and the biscuits are more tender.

One often puts too much salt in food while cooking it. To remove the salt place a wet cloth over the top of the vessel in which the food is cooking and the steam will draw the salt into the wet cloth.

Codfish Balls—Pare and quarter about two quarts potatoes. Put in kettle. Pick up about half a box of codfish and put on top of potatoes, cover with boiling water and cook till potatoes are done—about 20 minutes. Drain and wash. Add lumps of butter salt and pepper to taste. Using a large spoon and knife form into egg shaped balls. Fry in deep fat or brown like potato cakes.

Muffins (One dozen large)—Two and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, sifted together, one egg beaten. Add one-third cup of milk, one-half cup water, two table-spoons melted butter. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in hot oven.

Salad Dressing—Beat two eggs in a bowl, add one-half cup cream (sweet or sour), one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon mustard, five tablespoons vinegar. Cook over steam, stirring often. Add two tablespoons melted butter or oil. When cool thin as needed with cream.

NOVEL USE FOR FRUITS

Fruit Breads—The currants are now much cheaper and can be restored with profit to cakes, puddings and even breads. Of course, they give a more acid fruit flavor to bread than do raisins, but for a change this may be acceptable, and more sugar may be added if desired, or up to a half a cup for three cups of flour. Or parts of the fruit used may be some of the extra sweet products, like candied citron.

A fruit break made entirely of white flour may be incomparably good, but for some reason or other, probably to make the dark breads more enticing, fruits have more commonly been used in the dark breads. An all Indian cornbread with candied fruits, like candied citron and apple, becomes a real confection.

Miss Agnes O'Neil, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. O'Neil, N. McDonel-st and Lawrence Keating, son of Mrs. Laura Keating, E. High-st, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at St. James Parsonage, Lakewood, Ohio, the Rev. Father Stevenson officiating. The bride was attired in an attractive suit of blue with a hat to match.

Immediately following the ceremony an elaborate wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Faulhaber, Edanola-ave, Lakewood.

Mr. and Mrs. Keating are now receiving their friends at their new home, 453 N. McDonel-st.

FARMERS TAKE STEPS TO PREVENT NEW FLOOD

GRAND JUNCTION, Col. — Farmers along the Grand River are taking every precaution this Spring to prevent recurrence of the serious damage done by flood waters in 1920.

The channel of the river was changed in many places by the high water of last Spring.

The banks of the river are being rip-rapped with logs, trees, rocks, steel rails and a network of wire in an effort to keep the land from being cut away again.

The State Highway Commission has granted a fund of $10,000 to be used in aiding the work of safeguarding the river banks east of the city, which will protect a large area of rich land.

"BLAME NOT THE GIRLS," SAYS CLERIC

ADAMS, Massachuetts — Not the girls themselves but the trend of the times was blamed for the clothes worn by young women of today by Rev. Thomas C. O'Connor, pastor of St. Thomas' Roman Catholic Church, in the course of a sermon delivered at the local church. Parents should exercise greater watchfulness and strictest discipline over their daughters, Rev. Father O'Connor declared, and should set an example for young girls to follow. The local priest declared that the present styles have their origin in Paris, but that America is a country of fine purpose and aims and that its own styles should be good enough for its residents.

STORY OF SILK

A woman discovered silk.

She was the Empress Si-ling-chi, wife of the Emperor Huang-ti, who ruled China in 2640 B. C.

She is known today as the "Goddess of the Silk Worm," and thruout China on an appointed day rich and poor alike pay picturesque tribute to her.

One day she noticed that, as heads of the caterpillars in her garden moved from side to side, a semi-fluid gummy substance issued from their mouths and soon turned into a soft, downy thread. Soon cocoons were formed.

They piqued her curiosity. From them floated many soft threads. She pulled one and found that was light and strong.

The hardness of the cocoon bothered her, but finally she hit upon the idea of soaking one in warm water. The result was that she was better able to extract the thread.

She wound it on her fingers in one continuous thread nearly 2000 feet long. It was yellow.

Not content with her interesting discovery, she set about to find some way in which to utilize the silken threads.

After weeks of study and experiment she ordered the women of her court to meet her in the garden. There she demonstrated her crude methods of gathering and reeling the silk and set them all to work learning to help her. Soon she taught them to weave garments and to embroider.

It was not long before the emperor, who had shown little interest in her silk worms, was presented by the empress with a ceremonial garment of purest silk. A short time later all members of the court were wearing silken clothes of dazzling beauty.

The production of raw silk quickly became the chief industry of China and the nation grew rich beyond understanding of neighboring countries, which sought vainly for years for the secret.

"Exclusive But Not Expensive"

LAZY HUSBAND IS DRAWBACK TO HIS WIFE

(By SUSIE SMART)

Dear Miss Smart:

I AM a very unhappy woman. I have several little children, but my husband is very lazy. He dislikes work and makes only enough money to buy us food. I like nice furniture and pretty clothes, but of course I can't have them when my husband is so lazy and he is mean about it too. I like my husband but I think if I would go away for a while it might help things. I have a small bank account of my own. Would you advise me to use some of this to buy furniture and clothes?

JUST A WIFE

UNLESS your husband becomes physically unable to work, no not use a cent of your bank account. If he feels that he can depend upon you as a means of livelihood, he will probably become lazier and more and more negligent. It is your duty to have some kind of an understanding with him. Make him understand that he should fulfill his duties as a husband and a father.

Unless he tries to brace up and make a man of himself soon I think you would be happier keeping house for some one and making a little money yourself. Of course, there is clerking, which you might enjoy also. However, since you have little children, in my opinion housekeeping would be preferable, as you could doubtless be with them more. I think if you would take such a step it would do your husband worlds of good. Let him understand, however, that you will return home as soon as he is able to provide for you properly.

* * *

Dear Miss Smart:

I would like to have you inform me if it is permissable for a young girl who is engaged to call her fiance over the telephone and invite him to take her to a place of amusement?

L. L. W.

It might be permissamle but why not have the young man do the inviting? I could not say that it would be much of an "invitation" to the young man for his fiancee to call him and "invite him to take her to a place of amusement.

GRABBED AHOLD OF A LIVE WIRE

Lima Electrician Tells How He Won High-Voltage Appetite

Edgar Kraft

"I sure grabbed hold of a "live wire" the day I started taking Syrola," declared Edgar Kraft, well-known automobile electrician in charge of electrical work for The Sifred-Hosselman Co., 125 W. Elm-st, Lima, in a recent interview with the Syrola Man who is explaining the medicine at the Public Drug Store.

"Yes Sir, that medicine fixed me up in great shape," said Mr. Kraft, who resides at 863 W. Spring-st, "and I've got a high-voltage appetite that would make a hungry bear envious. Catarrh and indigestion had their clutches on me, and altho I hadn't much appetite, every bite I ate fermented and caused gas, belching and pains in my stomach.

"I used to roll and toss at night and awakened in the morning with a full head, a bad taste in my mouth and feeling more tired than on going to bed. Thanks to Syrola, I sleep like a baby, my head is clear and my digestion as sound as a dollar.

"I am grateful to Syrola and to the friend who recommended it to me."

A special laboratory representative is located at the Public Drug Store, 142 N. Main-st, where he explains the nature of Syrola to those who call.—Adv.

THE KILLER

BY STEWART EDWARD WHITE

At the corral I picked out a good horse, one that I had brought from the Gila that would stay tied indefinitely without impatience. Then I lighted me a cigarette and jogged up the road. I carried with me a little grub, my six-gun, the famous black bag, and an entirely empty head.

The night was only moderately dark. By and by I turned off the road and made a wide detour down the sacatone bottoms. This brought my approach to the blank side of the ranch where were the willow trees and the irrigating ditch. I rode up as close as I thought I might. Then I tied my horse to a convenient lone Joshua tree that would be easy to find. I broke the lock of the bag with a stone. I had no difficulty in identifying a nice compact little hypodermic outfit, which I slipped into a pocket. I then deposited the bag where I could find it easily.

I approached the ranch under cover of the willows and crept up close to the walls. They were 12 or 15 feet high, absolutely smooth; broken only by the long, narrow loopholes or transoms and a small wicket gate or door. This and the big main gate were the only entrances to the inclosure.

I retired to the vicinity of the willows and uttered the cry of the barred owl and at once glided to the wall near the little door. After a moment or so it opened to emit Old Man Hooper and another bulkier figure. Both were armed with shotguns. Those two carried no light. I slipped inside the doorway.

This brought me into a narrow passage between two buildings. The other end looked into the interior court. A careful reconnoisance showed no one in sight, so I walked boldly along the veranda in the direction of the girl's room.

But when I was half way down the veranda I heard the wicket door slammed shut. The owl hunters had returned. Running lightly I darted down the veranda and around the corner of the left wing, into a narrow little garden strip between the main house and the wall dividing the court from the corrals and stable yards.

The fragrant smell of Mexican tobacco reached my nostrils. After a moment Ramon—it was he—resumed a conversation in Spanish:

'I do not know, senor, who the man was. I could but listen. His name, yes, Jim Starr, but who he is— It is of no importance."

'It is of importance that the other man still lives," in Hooper's harshest voice. "Are you sure of it?"

'I saw him. And I saw his horse at the Senor Meigs. It was the brown that bucks badly, so I cut the quarter straps of his saddle. It might be that we have luck; I do not count it. But rest your mind easy, senor, it shall be arranged.

"But there is more, senor. The senor will remember a man who rode in races for him many years ago, one named Artie—"

"Brower!" broke in Hooper, 'What about him?"

"He is in town, he is all day and all night with this Sanborn." Hooper swore fluently in English.

'Look, Ramon!" he ordered, vehemently. "It is necessary to finish this Sanborn at once.

'Bueno, senor."

'It must not go over a single day."

'Bueno, senor. And also this Artie?"

'No! no! no!" hastened Hooper. 'Guard him as your life! But send a trusty man for him tomorrow with the buckboard. He comes to see me in answer to my invitation. It's necessary that he come," emphasizing each word.

Bueno, senor."

'Who is to be on guard?"

'Cortinez, senior."

"I will send him at once. Here is the key, give it to him."

Bueno, senor," replied Ramon.

He leaned against the corner of the house. My eyes, wide to the dimness took in every detail of my surroundings. Near me stood a water barrel. I could get a spring from the water barrel I could catch one of the heavy projecting beams of the roof.

The sound of footsteps became audible, and Ramon moved to meet his relief. I seized the opportunity of their conversation and ascended to the roof. It proved to be easy. Ramon and his companion were still talking under the veranda, so I could not see them; but I waited until I heard one of them move away. Then I went to seat myself on the low parapet and think things over.

The man below me had the key to the girl's room. If I could get the key I could accomplish the first step of my plan. I gave passing wonder to the fact, as developed by the conversation between Hooper and Ramon that Brower was not at the ranch. Where had Tiger dumped him, and where now was he lying? I keenly regretted the loss of a possible ally; and I found within myself a little regret for the man himself.

The thought of the transom occurred to me. The opening was about five feet below the parapet. I tied a bit of stone from the coping in the end of my silk bandana and lowered it at arm's length. With the stub of a pencil every cowboy carried to tally with I scribbled a few words on an envelope which I wrapped about the bit of coping. Something to the effect that I was there, and expected to gain entrance to her room later, and to be prepared. Then I lowered my contraption, and finally swung it to fly, bandana and all, thru the opening. After a short interval I saw the reflection of a light and so knew my message had been received.

At the end of a quarter hour the sentry emerged from under the veranda, looked up at the sky, yawned, stretched, and finally sat down with his back against the wall of the building opposite. Inside of ten minutes was sound asleep and snoring gently.

The descent was a little difficult to accomplish noiselessly, as I had to drop some feet, but I managed it. I crept along the wall to where he sat. I had the heavy barrel of my gun. Cautiously I drew it from its holster and poised it to strike. At that instant I was seized and pinioned from behind.

I did not struggle. I was caught in a grip so skillful that the smallest move gave me exquisite pain. Cortinez, the sleepy sentry, had opened his eyes and was grinning at me.

I was forced to my feet and mached to the open door of the corner room. There I was released and turned around to face Hooper himself. There seemed to be trace neither of the girl nor the girl's occupation.

"Thank you for your warning of your intended visit," said Hooper in silky tones, indicating my bandana which lay on the table. "Mistake in the rooms, perhaps. I often shift my dear. And you, sir, tell her all you know. I think I can arrange so your confidences will go no further."

For the first time I heard him laugh, a high, uncertain cackle. The girl said nothing, but she stared at him with level, blazing eyes. Also for the first time I began to take an interest in her.

"Do you object to smoking?" I.

"Not at all," she answered.

"Well, then, old man, be a sport. Give me the makings. I can get my hands to my mouth."

"Until morning," he observed, his hand on the door knob. He inclined in a most courteous fashion, first to the one of us, then to the other, and went out. He did not lock the door after him, and I could hear him addressing Cortinez outside.

"I am going to bed." Hooper said. "It is not necessary to stand guard. You may get your blankets and sleep on the veranda."

HER OWN CAREER

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

IN LONDON

A crowd of friends were at the pier next day to see the trio off on their adventures, and Gwenda felt a wrench at her breast as she saw the kindly faces beaming up at them from below, as the boat slowly steamed away from its moorings, hesitated for a moment, then swung far out into the stream. With a little sigh she turned to where Fern stood mopping her eyes with a wispy handkerchief and smiling thru her tears. "Good old crowd, isn't it, Gwenny? And we'll miss every one of 'em, so we will, won't we?"

"Yes, indeed. They're true-blue and I love them all," answered Gwenda. "But come now, let's go and have a peek at our staterooms and get acquainted with some of the stewards before luncheon."

The trip down the bay was glorious. The crowd on board was in festive mood and everyone seemed to smile at everyone else in a way that delighted Gwenda. Shipboard did away with a lot of conventional stiffness, it appeared. No wonder it was so popular.

On the eighth day they landed in Liverpool, and before nightfall of the same day Gwenda found herself in one of the cities of her dreams. A huge, shadowy, vast city, that seemed to swallow one in its maw as easily as breathing. Gwenda stood on the platform watching the British workmen walking stolidly to and fro about their work, and amusing herself by listening to the broad cockney accent to be heard on every side. Red-cheeked, stolid men were these. Far more sedate than their American cousins at home.

Fedya worried out their luggage in time, and then they got into a taxi and were whirled to the Cecil hotel.

Gwenda adored everything that she saw, and was enchanted by the gayety and crowds that they passed thru from the station. "I can't believe that we are really here in London, Fern," she gasped to her cousin, who beamed back the same sentiment in turn.

"And just to think that this is only one of many wonderful cities that we are going to see before we are thru, dear girl," said Fern. "Oh, I do think that I have the most generous and adorable husband in the world." Here she was promptly hugged by said husband.

Arrived at the Cecil, they rested, then dressed for dinner, Fedya took them to the Carlton grill, where they reveled in everything from sparkling wines to the over-pompous waiter who served them. After dinner they went to the theater, and from there to a cozy little supper at Frascati's. It was the most wonderful evening of Gwenda's life, so she repeated over and over again. The newness of everything, the crowds, the music and the dazzling loveliness of the English women's complexions were a source of amazement to her.

"I see types here for a hundred novels," she breathed ecstatically to her cousin, "and I know that I am going to turn out some of my very best work right here in London. Just wait till I send my first stories to The News. That's all I say!"

Elderly People Need This In Medicine Chest

To relieve chronic constipation, always keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin handy.

NEARLY all people as they advance in age suffer from chronic constipation. Many, however, are indifferent to the laxative they use, on the theory that "they are all alike." That is a great mistake.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, for example, is a mild, gentle liquid laxative, and it does not lose its effect with repeated use. It so trains the bowel muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

A sixty-cent bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last many months. The prescription was written thirty years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, a well-known family doctor, who is himself now in his 82nd year and can appreciate what chronic constipation must mean to elderly people; how it brings on headaches, colds, loss of appetite and sleep, heaviness and a general dull feeling.

Every home that has an elderly man or woman should be provided with a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Eight million bottles were bought at drug stores last year. It is a truly wonderful constipation remedy.

Mrs. WILLIMAN TESTIFIES

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Be the Best Medicine for Girls and Women

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I had such awful pains in my back I could hardly stand on my feet and I was never without a headache. If I walked up town I thought I would drop and many a time I felt so bad I had to go to bed and I was not able to do much of my housework. I would have hemorrhages every two weeks and dragging down pains. I had been feeling badly for three years and had two of the best doctors in the city, but I kept getting worse and only weighed 125 pounds. I saw your advertisement and I took eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets, four bottles Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and your Liver Pills and noticed an improvement right away. Now I weigh 138 pounds and feel fine. Everybody tells me how well I look and asks me what I took and I always say, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the best medicine in the world for any sickness to which girls and women are subject.' I will always have a good word for your medicine and you may use my name whenever you wish."—Mrs. JOSEPH WILLIMAN, 722 South 9th Street, Hamilton, Ohio.

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

means prettier teeth—accept it

This is an offer which millions have accepted. And glistening teeth seen everywhere show the good effects.

Make this free test. Then judge the benefits by what you see and feel.

To fight film

Dental science, after diligent research, has found ways to fight film on teeth. Careful tests have proved them beyond question. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a scientific tooth paste—Pepsodent. So all may regularly apply them. To countless homes they have brought already a new era in teeth cleaning.

How film ruins

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary dentifrice does not effectively combat it. So, despite the tooth brush, it has caused tremendous damage.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It forms the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

It breeds millions of germs and they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Pepsodent combats these film-caused troubles as nothing else has done.

Combats acid

Pepsodent also multiplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause decay.

In these ways it acts as fruit acids do. With every use it multiplies Nature's teeth-protecting forces. Old methods had the opposite effect.

Watch it act

Send for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

A book we send tells the reason for each good effect. Judge what those results will mean to you and yours. Cut out the coupon now.

LIMA LOSES OPENING GAME TO FORT WAYNE, 5-6

PLAY AGAINST ODDS WITH ROOKIES IN GAPS OF TEAM

				R	H	E
LIMA	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	3	5	11	2
FORT WAYNE	0	1	2	0	2	0	0	0	1	6	10	1

Performing against odds, the Lima semi-pro team playing its first game of the season at Fort Wayne Sunday held the Hoosiers to a score of five to six.

The game was a highly exciting one from the first inning. Lima scored a run in the first inning, while it was not until the second that the Fort Wayne aggregation got started, when they registered a run.

In the second and third innings Lima batters were unable to connect with the bat, but in the fourth came back with another run which was their last until the ninth inning. In the final frame they staged a rally in an effort to overcome a three run lead.

MAKE THREE RUNS

Three runs were made in this frame by the Lima team making them even with the Hoosiers. But at their final turn to the bat they scored another which put them one run ahead of the local team.

The Lima team, carrying several rookies, played a fast snappy game in the field and carried an uphill fight in run getting thruout the contest.

Don Rohe, the youthful hurler of the Lima team, at times was exceptionally wild and his passing of eight batters figured in the majority of runs registered by the Fort Wayne aggregation.

CHAMBERS HARD HIT

Chambers, pitching for Fort Wayne, was hard hit by the locals, but his experience gained as a first string man of the University of Indiana for the past two seasons, gave him the edge over the local hurler.

The Lima roster was composed of 13 players, 11 of whom were worked during the game.

The game gave the management of the Lima team a further look at several youngsters who are aspiring for berths on the home team.

About 1400 persons witnessed the game, which was exciting enough to hold the anxiety of the entire crowd for the full nine innings despite the rawness of the breezes that swept over the field.

HALLORAN PLEASED

Halloran was pleased with the showing made by several of the players that participated in the game, but was a bit disappointed at the style of pitching displayed by Rohe.

Last year Rohe worked fine, and was one of the most popular pitchers that worked on the local diamond.

Negotiations with several players of the disbanded Toledo Rail-Lights are expected to be completed this week.

Following is the line-up used yesterday:

Phillips, C; Rohe, P, Greenland, 1B; Powell, 2B, Mallov, SS; Foss, Connell, 3B; Adams, CF; Reynolds, RF; McClelland, LF; B. Reynolds.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR

Russell, Red Sox, held Yanks to two hits—one a scratch.

Brooklyn beat Boston 2 to 1 in 19 innings, making 58 innings of play in three successive games.

Detroit beat Cleveland, winning the first game in the season.

Chicago won the season's first double header from the Reds.

Philadelphia hit Nehf for 21 bingles, beat the Giants and went into first place.

Washington made seven runs in the first inning of the Athletics.

WILL DEMPSEY JAB LIGHTLY OR FIGHT?

Boxing followers are wondering what style of fighting Jack Dempsey will use when he faces Georges Carpentier in Jersey City on July 2. Will the champion dance and feint and jab lightly as he did when he met Bill Brennan in the Garden last winter, or will he go back to his natural style that enabled him to win so many bouts in quick time?

Just what happened to Dempsey in the Brennan bout is a mystery that may never be cleared up. Ring followers in general looked upon Brennan as a setup. Dempsey had knocked him out in a previous bout and it looked as tho Bill would prove to be still easier the second time because of the working of the well known "Indian sign."

WAS VERY NERVOUS

Yet Dempsey entered the ring that night in a highly nervous state. The champion was pale and visibly trembling during the preparations for the battle. His knees actually knocked together as he stood with Brennan posing for a flashlight. What was going on in Dempsey's mind to bring about such an unexpected condition?

When the bout began, ringsiders were still further astonished to see Dempsey box lightly instead of walking in and nailing his man with crushing left and right hooks, as he always had done in the past. It was not surprising that Brennan was able to hold him even at boxing, for Dempsey never had shown any ability as a fancy boxer, but why Dempsey continued this strange course round after round instead of changing back to his natural style of fighting was, and still is a puzzle.

HOW WILL HE FEEL

If Dempsey was nervous and used poor judgment when he faced Brennan, how will he act when he enter the ring before 50,000 or 60,000 persons against a man he knows very little about? Will he be the ripping, tearing Dempsey of old or the nervous, excitable, pale-faced boxer of the Brennan affair?

When this match was first broached over a year ago Dempsey and Manager Jack Kearns were supremely confident. In fact Kearns was inclined to regard the talk of the match between Carpentier and Dempsey as being in the nature of an insult to the champion. Out on the far coast he was quoted as saying that Carpentier was less than nothing as a fighter. That if he couldn't lick Frank Klaus and Billy Papke who are long since past and gone, it was a joke to think that he would have a chance with a modern fighter like Dempsey.

KERNS NOT FRANK

Kearns has not been so frank in stating his views in New York, close to the scene of the bout, for that would be poor policy, but it is more than likely that he was stating his real opinion in those California interviews.

It is possible that Kearns and Dempsey have changed their opinion of Carpentier somewhat of late. So many persons take the Frenchman seriously that it would be only natural for the champion to be impressed. In any case he had less reason to fear Brennan, and yet his confidence on that occasion did not prevent him from having a bad attack of nerves.

Dempsey's physical condition is another thing that has the fans guessing. It has frequently been said he never again will be able to reach the superb form he displayed at Toledo. Heavyweight champions always do lose form for the simple reason that they do not fight often enough to keep in shape, but Dempsey is a young and healthy athlete and there seems to be no reason why proper training should not make him as good as ever.

NEW JAVELIN IS USED BY COLLEGES

URBANA, Ill — Improved types of the javelin and discus have been invented by Harry Gill, track coach at the University of Illinois, and are now being used by several middle western colleges.

The new javelin is made of the toughest growth of maple and ash with a long pointed steel spearhead. It is said to be a stronger lance than those used heretofore and has the combined good points of the Finnish and the standard American spear.

"Javelins on the market have always been unsatisfactory" Coach Gill said. "So we decided to manufacture our own. Other schools heard about them and now all but three of the Big Ten and nearly all the Missouri Valley schools are using the Illinois spear."

The wood for the new shafts were selected after thoro laboratory tests had been made on numerous strong woods from the Canadian north woods.

The Illinit coach has been working on a new discus for several years. He has placed much of the weight of the discus in the rim, in accordance with the principle of the fly-wheel and gyroscope.

IS DEMPSEY NEAR CONDITION? TRAINING PHOTOS GIVE ANSWER

Two interesting glimpses of Jack Dempsey during a workout recently

These photos, taken at Freddy Welsh's health farm at Summit, N J, where Jack Dempsey has started training for his battle with Georges Carpentier July 2, give the boxing fans better info than columns of discussion as to the shape Jack is in as he begins to tune up for the mill. Dempsey doesn't seem to have much superfluous flesh. Whether he has the strength he had when he tackled Willard only a real battle will disclose.

BOSTON REDS PILOTED BY 2 BOSSES

By JACK VEIOCK

NEW YORK — Hugh Duffy, new manager of the Boston Red Sox, doesn't subscribe to the old saw about "too many chefs scorching the consomme."

Contrary, Hughey believes that a pair of good cooks can improve the broth, so to speak, for he recently appointed himself a 50 per cent manager and allotted the other 50 per cent of the management of his team to Jimmy Burke.

DUAL MANAGEMENT

In short, the Red Sox will be operated under a dual management this season as an experiment, and Duffy predicts that it will be a huge success.

Burke, who managed the St. Louis Browns last year and whose major league experience dates back as far as Duffy's, was originally signed as coach and scout by President Harry Frazee. But after working with the former boss of the Brownies at the training camp in Hot Springs Duffy decided that Jimmy was a real ace and that his counsel was needed in the daily battle plans of the team.

AIM IS HARMONY

Duffy's innovation should work well for he and Burke are the fastest friends, and Duffy, personally, doesn't care for any glory but that of winning ball games. If the Red Sox can go out and make themselves conspicuous in the coming pennant race it will glory enough for Hughey and he is willing to share it with Burke and the members of the team.

Duffy's policy is certainly constructive. One of the greatest assets to a successful baseball team is perfect harmony, and Hughey is going to have that first of all. In connection with his announcement he made it plain that every member of the team will be asked to chip into conferences or "skull practises," offering suggestions for the betterment of the work of the club. In this way each player will be made to feel that the club is depending on him personally to lend his thought as well as his physical efforts toward its success, and it appears that the system ought to be a winner.

ARE BEING REBUILT

The Red Sox are being rebuilt. Trades and sales of players during the last two or three years have resulted in the complete breaking up of the old-time championship combination and Duffy and Burke have a regular construction contract on their hands. As both are thoroly seasoned baseball men who know the pastime inside out they are bound to get the best out of the material at hand, and if Prexy Frazee sees his way clear to give them free rein in the matter of getting new talent when and where it is needed, if it is possible for them to do so, the Beantown Americans will soon regain much of the prestige they have lost in the American League.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR

Brooklyn lost to the Boston Braves and went into second place in the National League race.

Yale played a game without an error against John Hopkins.

Cornell beat Amherst in an 11-inning game.

WASHINGTON — Retail prices appear to be the "sticking" point in country's readjustment process, while high transportation charges, wages and coal and steel prices are also retardants, according to federal reserve statement.

KILBANE MAY FIGHT BEECHER MAY 30

Featherweight Champion Johnny Kilbane, probably will defend his title in New York on Decoration day. The Velodrome, which will open on that date, has been negotiating with the Cleveland hermit for some time, and Kilbane appears to be willing to fight.

The champion says he is going to take on the three leading contenders, and will begin with Charley Beecher.

EVIDENTLY ANXIOUS

Kilbane evidently is anxious to tackle Beecher. When Tex Rickard tried to sign the champion for a bout at the Garden early in the spring "Killy" picked out Beecher. The two were virtually matched when Beecher lost that close decision to Andy Chaney.

Rickard then decided that it would not be a wise thing to give Kilbane $40,000 for meeting the youngster, and the match was dropped for a time. Rickard thought that Beecher deserved a draw, and if that had been the decision the match with Kilbane would have been made, but under the circumstances the promoter decided not to take a chance.

MANAGER CONFERS

Phil Bernstein, manager for Beecher, recently made a trip to Cleveland to see Kilbane about the proposed match at the Velodrome. Bernstein frankly admits that Kilbane has selected Beecher as his opponent because he thinks he can beat the youngster. The champion evidently figures that his long experience will enable him to out-general Beecher.

Beecher's rise has been so rapid that boxing fans hardly realize that he has reached a contending position, and they would prefer to see a more experienced boxer tackle the veteran title holder.

BROTHER OF WILLIE

Beecher is a brother of the veteran Willie Beecher and a much better man than his brother ever was. In this he is something of an exception to the rule, for it is seldom that the younger brother of a well-known ring man surpasses the elder.

Charley began as an amateur. While boxing for medals and glory he took part in 27 tournaments and won 21 of them. Benny Valger, Sam Mosbery now prominent among the amateurs now prominent among the pros whom Beecher defeated while a member of the Simon pures.

MAKES BIG JUMP

Beecher jumped from the amateurs to a place among the top-notch professionals at one bound. He stepped right out and beat Joe Lynch, Andy Chaney and scores of lesser lights.

The only defeat he has suffered was in the bout with Andy Chaney in New York several weeks ago. Beecher's enthusiastic followers did not think much of that decision and said so in no gentle tones, but the verdict was a just one, altho the bout was close.

MEASURE OF CHANEY

In a previous bout in Jersey Beecher had taken the measure of Chaney. On that occasion Chaney came into the ring three pounds over the weight agreed upon, but Beecher waived claim to his forfeit and then proceeded to hand a trimming to the man who was rated as the leading contender for the featherweight title.

It is only recently that Beecher has grown into the featherweight class, and he still is the lightest of the prominent contenders. Just now he is trying to obtain a match with Joe Lynch and will agree to make 118 pounds at 2 o'clock. So far Lynch has not shown the least desire to accept the challenge.

DEFEATED LYNCH

Beecher had just stepped out of the amateur ranks when he defeated Lynch two years ago. Lynch was making his first appearance in this country since his battle with Jimmy Wilde in London, and he was expected to make short work of the former amateur. Beecher surprised Lynch and the fans by outpointing his hard hitting opponent all the way in an eight-round bout. He pounded Lynch's body in the toe to toe mixing, out-jabbed him at long range and made Lynch miss all his long range right handers for the jaw.

HIGH SCHOOLS INVITED TO BIG MEET

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — More than 200 high schools in 11 states have been invited to participate in the Mississippi Valley Interscholastic track and field meet, to be held here by Washington University May 21.

Contestants will enter under the rules governing interscholastic athletics in their respective states.

Representation is expected from Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Nebraska, Ohio, Oklahoma and Kansas.

HAVE TWO CLASSES

The competitors will be divided into two classes those from schools where the enrollment is 400 or more in Class A, and all others in Class B.

Their idea was adopted, it was explained, so the smaller schools would not be forced into competition with those having larger forces from which to draw athletic material.

The Class B. institutions, however, will have the privilege of entering the other class.

HAVE 14 EVENTS

The program will comprise 14 events as follows: 100, 220, 440 and 880-yard dashes; mile run; 120 and 220-yard hurdles; high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, discus throw, javelin throw and half mile relay, for four-men teams.

Three events exclusive of the relay race, will be the maximum number in which any one entrant may compete.

Medals an dtrophies will be awarded winner an diti s planned to hold the meet annually hereafter.

CLEVELAND — Louis Komer, alias "Toledo kid," admittel, police say, to participation in the killing December 31 of Wilfred C. Sly and George K. Fanner, during $4200 payroll robbery.

BOY MILLIONAIRE LIFE OF STREET

Livermore Furnishes Much Gossip for America's Money Center

DURANT IS WORTH WATCHING

Forbes Says Pessimism is Fast Disappearing

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — The New York Stock Exchange would have to close shop if one man had to quit operating. Every important move is engineered by this individual. So, at least, one would gather from the perpetual gossip in customers' rooms. This Napoleonic trader is Jesse Livermore, called "The Boy Millionaire" when he is supposed to be raking in millions, and at other times, "the blond-haired boy."

Livermore is "broke" at least once a month a la Wall-st stories. One of his present costly exploits is said to be on the bear side of Studebaker, which has been soaring sensationally. But Livermore still sports an expensive automobile and other appurtenances of the millionaire, so that he may not be quite so hard on the rocks as Wall-st represents.

Spectacular plungers rise up in Wall-st every now and again. Like skyrockets, they usually, after a great display of brilliancy, come down with a thud.

* * *

Watch Durant. Some of the ablest men in the automobile industry are flocking to the new standard he has just raised for the Durant Motors. Wall-st rushed to the conclusion that Durant was done for when he dropped out of General Motors. It transpires, however, that Durant was far from broke. That former associates still believe whole-heartedly in him is being demonstrated by events. A comment often heard in responsible circles is "If Durant could forget that there is such thing as stocks, and devote his whole attention to automobiles, he would tower above them all."

Durant must be a good-hearted fellow. One of his most prominent competitors, an automobile manufacturer known thruout the world, called up Durant one day on the 'phone and after their customary friendly greeting, the competitor told Durant that he was in a bad fix, that he had sold General Motors short in large volume, and that he was being badly squeezed. Instead of berating his competitor and friend for trying to depress General Motors, Durant replied: "That's all right, John. Come up and see me. I'll fix you up all right." Then his friend explained that he was only joking.

Altho I have never met Durant, I have always thought better of him since his friend told me that anecdote.

* * *

A business friend, back from a visit to the Middle West, says that a great many retail merchants who formerly traded with New York jobbers and wholesalers have lately switched to Chicago, because they were repeatedly unable to get spot merchandise here, whereas large Chicago houses had not allowed their stocks to run so far down. From all accounts, Chicago has been less panicky than New York during the recent turbulent times.

Incidentally there would seem to be little risk involved in buying many lines of merchandise, particularly drygoods, at the prices now current in primary markets.

* * *

A prediction: Discount rates will go a little lower still. Supplies of credit are becoming more plentiful, thanks to the gradual liquidation of "frozen credits" and the wholly abnormal inflow of gold from more than twenty countries. America's stock of gold on hand today is of record volume.

* * *

The "sales tax" should be called the "buyer's tax." That's what it really is. But called by that name it would not attract many supporters from the ranks of the public.

* * *

Reductions in steel wages are now under consideration. It is just possible that a preliminary announcement may be given out early next week. Definite action is probable before the end of May. The Steel Corporation will not be the only company to make cuts.

* * *

Quite a few big bankers, industrial leaders and railroad executives who have been bluer than indigo are now beginning to think that perhaps after all, everything is not going to perdition. The financial, the labor, the railroad, the industrial, the mercantile outlook—and the security markets, all show signs of brightening, they must now admit. Henry Clews—who must be nearing ninety—used to rebuke those who became ultra-bearish after things had had a bad smash. "You can't cut a dog's tail off twice." That's a timely thought for many right now.

NEW YORK — Last week's lively dealings in selected stocks at higher prices were resumed at the outset of today's session. Oils, motors and allied specialties were most conspicuous, with Cosden, Pierce Arrow and Central Leather leading at gains of 1 to 2 points. Steels and equipments were irregular, but coppers and shippings denoted further moderate accumulation. Rails displayed little animation and the usual minor specialties were uncertain. Affairs abroad were reflected in rates for British exchange, demand sterling rising to 396 3-4, the highest quotation so far this year.

Shorts made another drive against oils during the first hour on a revival of recent rumors affecting the Mexican groups. Mexican Petroleum dropepd 4 1-2, Pan American 2 1-2 and others 1 to 2. Studebaker and other prominent motors fell 1 to 2 1-4 points and Crucible lost 1 1-2. Heavy specialties embraced Sears-Roebuck, May Department stores and several of the leathers. Oils and most other leaders rebounded sharpley before noon, however, when independent steels as well as coppers and rails featured a broader buying movement. Call money opened at per cent, the higher rate reflecting last week's deficit in clearing house reserves.

Midcontinent oil made its predicted drop Monday when the Prairie Oil Gas Co. lowered their prices for Midcontinental and Texas oils from $1.75 to $1.50 a barrel. This reduction was preceded by a reduction in the price of gasoline in the mid-western states last week. High neak price on these grades of oil was $3.50 a barrel.

Ohio and Pennsylvania oils recently advanced to an appreciable degree. Just how the cut in the western fields will affect prices here is not yet known.

Trading in stocks today was very active and broad. Popular issues in the industrial groups recorded extreme gains of 1 to 4 points. Sales approximated 1,200,000 shares.

CHICAGO — Complete absence of deliveries on May contracts brought about a sharp upturn in wheat prices today. It was expected that the visible supply total this afternoon would show a fair decrease and this fact served further to make shorts anxious. Most of the trading, however, was in small lots. Opening quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 1 3-4c higher with May $1.32 to 1.32 3-4 and July $1.08 to 1.08 3-4 were followed by decided gains all around.

Corn advanced for much the same reason as wheat, May deliveries proving small. After opening 3-8 to 1 1-8c higher; including July at 61 1-4 to 61 7-8 the market continued to harden.

Oats were dull but sympathized with the firmness of other cereals starting 1-4 to 3-4 higher and then receding a trifle.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions.

The wheat market closed unsettled 1 to 3 1-2c net higher with May $1.34 to 1.34 1-2 and July $1.09 to 1.09 1-4.

The corn close was easy 1 to 1 3-4c net advance with July 62 to 62 1-8.

FINDER ROBS BAG OF MONEY

Small Satchel Lost From Klinger Auto Found in Shawnee

Stopping of a closed Ford car abruptly in front of the F. C. Boedicker home in Shawnee-tp Monday morning, the opening of one of the doors and depositing of a small traveling bag along the road-side excited the curiosity of the Boedicker family.

The car drove hurriedly away after the small grip was deposited. Members of the family investigated.

When they found it to be a small satchel, they called Sheriff Charles W. Baxter. He opened the bag and by a receipt for services rendered as soloist by James L. Grubb and signed by Mrs. Clarence Klinger, Sheriff Baxter at once assumed the bag belonged to Mrs. Klinger.

He communicated with Attorney Clarence Klinger, who identified the bag. The amount of $16, which had been in the satchel, was missing when it was opened by Sheriff Baxter.

Articles of wearing apparel, a woman's purse and various other small articles of interest to Mrs. Klinger as vocalist, were in the bag. Nothing was taken save the money.

Attorney Klinger declared he had placed the bag on his automobile en route to Lima and that it had fallen from the running board.

Sheriff Baxter believes the finders made a circuitous route out into Shawnee-tp. to prevent their identity becoming known.

Members of the Boedicker family were unable to say whether there was more than one person in the automobile. The public highway is located about 200 yards from the Boedicker home.

BUTTER PRICES ON THE TOBOGGAN; NO CHANGES IN GRAIN

Butter prices charged by local creameries dropped to 37 cents Monday morning. Tuh butter was quoted at 36 cents a pound. This makes a decline of 15 cents within the last ten days and a five cent cut since Saturday. Unusual supplies on the market are given as the cause for the weakness in the price.

Retail produce was unchanged at the opening of the week. Good supplies were reaching the market and the demand continued firm.

Wheat and flour prices were steady, with no great volume of cash wheat being traded in. Farmers stocks have not been liquidated to any great extent. Live stock was also unchanged.

Good news on the railroad situation is expected this week.

Visible supplies of wheat decreased 2,065,000, corn decreased 5,149,000 and oats decreased 261,000 bushels.

Chicago hogs were 10 cents lower. Top was $8.50. Pittsburg hogs were lower with a top of $8.85. Sheep and lambs steady.

Car receipts at Minneapolis were, corn, 212 cars, and oats, 13 cars.

Approximately $3,000,000 gold were received Monday from Europe.

Force of clerks employed in assisting to make out their returns were on duty in the corridor of the court house all day Monday and will remain there until five o'clock Monday evening.

HOSPITAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED

40 States and Four Canadian Provinces Join Movement

HOLD OPEN HOUSE MAY 12

Idea is Indorsed by Harding and Governors

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Organization of forty states and four Canadian provinces for the observance of National Hospital Day, May 12, was announced today by Matthew O. Foley, executive secretary of the National Hospital Day Committee which is in general charge of the program for the day. The sectional organizations consist of state chairmen who are to appoint committees representing leading hospitals in each section of the state to develop the local programs.

INDORSED BY HARDING

Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming of the United States Public Health Service, following the endorsement of the day by President Harding, has instructed the commanding officer of each of the sixty-seven government hospitals in which the 26,000 disabled war veterans are under treatment, to throw wide the doors on May 12, and invite the public to talk with the patients, inspect the food, laundry and other departments and to otherwise learn how the service men are being cared for.

General and community hospitals in all parts of the country will follow this "open house" idea also, and in addition open the nurses' home to girls and young women interested in this profession, as well as hold graduating exercises for the senior nurses.

BACKED BY GOVERNORS

May 12 was chosen as the day for the observance as it is the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, pioneer in modern hospital and nursing methods.

Altho the idea of a National Hospital Day was originated by Chicago hospital people a little more than a month ago, it already has been heartily endorsed by governors and other public officials and leaders in welfare work in all parts of the United States and Canada.

HARRY SOUGHT BY GREAT THRONGS

Job Hunters Going to Washington See Daugherty First

BELIEVED CLOSEST THRONE

Herb Hoover Comes Next in line of Importance

(By GEORGE R. HOLMES)

WASHINGTON — International News Service,—If you are contemplating a trip to Washington these days to "talk things over," with Harry or Herb —meaning the Attorney-General of the United States and the Secretary of Commerce — you had better come with a bankroll and plenty of clothes, because it's likely to develop into a task of more magnitude than is generally thought.

GEORGE R. HOLMES.

If the question were asked, as it often is, who are the most difficult men to "see" in Washington these days there could be but one answer. They are Harry M Daugherty and Herbert Hoover The peculiar problems dealt with by their respective depatments draw hordes of people here to see them and their offices are choked at all hours with persons awaiting "conferences."

IS CHOSEN ONE

Particularly is Mr. Daugherty a hard-driven official. Due perhaps in a measure to the widespread publicity he received as the astute political manager for the president, and as such, "close to the throne," all the legions of earnest-minded citizens who itch to get on the public payroll come to "see Harry Daugherty." It seems to matter little whether they want to be an ambassador, a prohibition enforcement agent, a district attorney or a fourth assistant doorkeeper in the White House—they all come to "see Harry Daugherty." If they don't want anything for themselves they come, or their friends' friend.

All patronage roads lead thru Harry Daugherty's office these days The job-seekers and other callers start congregating in the little reception room, just off the Attorney General's office, early in the morning. Some of them are there, too, late in the evening when the Attorney General ducks out of a side entrance for food and rest.

Thruout the day the office is jammed. As fast as one seat is emptied and the lucky holder thereof ushered into the inner sanctum to put in a plug for his friend John Woozis to be Minister to Timbuctoo, it is occupied by Jim Whatsis, who perhaps only wants to become an assistant attorney general, or the aforesaid enforcement agent.

WHISPERED PASSWORD

Senators and Congressmen call to take up the matter of appointments of friends Those of their own callers whose cases the Congressmen consider hopeless they dispose of with a wag of the head and a whispered, "Well, you'll have to see Harry Daugherty." Whereupon the number of callers in Harry Daugherty's outer office is increased that much

All this is in addition to the regular work of the Attorney General ship with which Mr. Daugherty is endeavoring to familiarize himself There have been times since March 4 when the Attorney General has literally had to duck out of the building with his secretary and retire to his house in order to give consideration to a particularly pressing piece of Department of Justice business It was the only way he could avoid the pap-hungry callers.

PALMER'S PAINS

The new Attorney General also has had to contend with those who had grievances against the Department of Justice under A Mitchell Palmer—and their numbers are not inconsiderable. People call to see Mr. Daugherty to get pardons for friends, to get retrials of cases lost perhaps under the old regime, to get new rulings on this or that matter which affects their business; they call on a thousand and one subjects

Mr Hoover is somewhat more fortunate objective of the patronage drive There are comparatively few jobs to be had in the Department of Commerce that are of a political or changing nature, and he is not considered by prospective job hunters as "close to the throne" as Harry Daugherty

HOUSE CLEANING.

The new Secretary of Commerce, nevertheless, has been quite busy He is trying to make something out of the Department of Commerce except a surveying agency for the Bureau of Fisheries Mr. Hoover is trying to put business into the Department of Commerce "His plans embrace a close working liaison between the department and the directors of the United States Mercantile marine in order to foster and upbuild America's world trade.

In the working out of these plans he has consulted many business men from all parts of the country. His mail is heavy and his time is taken up completely

HOOVER SEES MANY.

Outside of Secretary of State Hughes, Mr. Hoover is perhaps more widely known to the general public than any other member of the Cabinet And so he, too, has his callers Business men in Washington, perhaps, on other business, drop in to see him regarding world conditions, with which he keeps in intimate touch They inquire about markets in this or that section of the globe, and the chances for American business there

Make no mistake about it, Harry and Herb—meaning the Attorney General of the United States and the Secretary of Commerce—are busy gentlemen these days. The President himself is scarcely more difficult to "see."

RED CROSS WORKERS OF 25 COUNTIES TO MEET IN LIMA, MAY 20

Condition of returned soldiers suffering from mental derangement incurred in service will form a part of the program to be considered here May 20, when Home Service directors of the American Red Cross from 25 Ohio counties convene at the Chamber of Sommerce.

The meeting will be for the purpose of getting the work in northwestern Ohio co-ordinated and a number of National Red Cross officials are to be present

Care of the disabled men and hospital service will be discussed and recommendations made regarding the growing number of mental cases. While the peak of mental cases is expected to come this year, little effort has been made to care for these men by the government.

WHITLAND TAKEN WHEN WOMAN SCREAMS; FINED

Harry Whitland 40, charged with drunkenness, was fined $15 when arraigned in criminal court Monday morning

He was arrested shortly before midnight Saturday, when police entered the home of May Johnson, 8 S. Main-st, after hearing the woman scream.

They found her badly beaten up, but she refused to file charges against Whitland, who roomed at her home.

MRS. DEAL FOUND DEAD IN A CHAIR; BURIAL AT PERRYSBURG, TUESDAY

Mrs Henrietta Deal, 71, was found dead, sitting in a chair at her home, 954 St. Johns-ave, Saturday night.

She was born in Chillicothe in May, 1850. Mrs. Deal is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mae Monahan, Detroit and Mrs. James Foley, Toledo. A sister, Mrs. Alice W. Myers and a brother, John R. Higgins, reside at 465 S. Central-ave.

FRANK HAWKINS HELD ON ASSAULT CHARGE PREFERRED BY GIRLS

Charged with assaulting two girls early Saturday night, Frank Hawkins, 31, of 1151 Arch-ave, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in criminal court Monday morning.

The girls, Clara Scanlon, 719 Fairview-ave and Josephine Caskey, 501 W. Vine-st, both 16 years old, say that Hawkins accosted them as they were walking along the Erie railroad tracks near the Metcalf-st bridge overhead.

They screamed, they say, and when Hawkins saw several men running towards him, he crawled under a box car and escaped Police later arrested him at his home and say that the two girls identified him as their assailant

Pending a preliminary hearing Saturday morning at 9 o'clock Hawkins is held under bond of $500.

TWO MEN KILLED

Cincinnati Electricians Burned to Death in Short Circuit

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—Two men are dead as the result of a short circuit on one of the large generators in the plant of the Union Gas and Electric Company, this city, yesterday.

Albert Baumann, 28, died before reaching a hospital and Edward Brandt, 23, died early Monday. Both men, electricians, were enveloped in flames, following the flashes of fire from the generator. Baumann's clothes were burned from his body.

WATER SUPPLY FOR LIMA AT PRESENT LARGEST IN YEARS

Lima's water supply is at present the largest in years, there being more than 900,000,000 gallons stored in the three lakes, according to figures submitted to Mayor F. A. Burkhardt Monday.

"This supply," declared Mayor Burkhardt," will be sufficient to last until snow flies, even if there is no more rainfall."

The storage capacity of Lima lake, Lost Creek and a smaller reservoir is approximately one and a quarter billion gallons. Additional rain in the next two weeks may swell the reserve to more than a billion gallons. About 200,000,000 gallons will be lost in the next four months from evaporation and leakage, but will be partially replaced by rainfall.

The city has 200 acres of reservoirs and the loss from evaporation, officials state, is a million gallons an acre.

TICKET RUN FOR NASH TALK SERIES

With the announcement of the coming of Arthur Nash to the city Thursday night as the guest of the Chamber of Commerce, the 4-Men's club of the Y. M. C. A. and other organizations, several churches of the city Sunday made arrangements to change their prayer-meeting services so that members may hear Nash.

Special invitations were extended Monday to the Lima Locomotive Club, the Knights of Columbus and other organizations of the city. The "run" has already started on the Chamber of Commerce for tickets. Admission will be by card only. Tickets are free, but in order to limit the attendance to the capacity of Memorial Hall, the ticket system has been adopted

The musical program of the evening alone should be sufficient drawing card to attract a crowd A 30-minute concert will be given by the Girls' Glee Club of Ohio Northern University Eighteen in number, these young women have just completed a tour that has won them plaudits and press notices that would make professionals turn green with envy For a half hour prior to the opening of the program, the Y. M. C. A. boys' orchestra, 25 in number, will play.

PEACE RESOLUTION SENT TO THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON — The Knox resolution declaring peace with Germany and Austria, passed in the senate late Saturday by a vote of 49 to 23, was sent to the house today It is not expected to be called up for a week or more, as it first goes to the foreign affairs committee where efforts likely will be made to amend it so as to declare peace without repealing the war resolutions.

While the committee is considering the peace question the house proper will continue discussion on the army appropriation bill, which is expected to be adopted tomorrow, and then take up the budget bill.

In the senate beginning today the emergency tariff, and immigration bills have the right of way.

A lengthy debate on the first named is anticipated because of strong Democratic opposition.

Cleaning without Blue Devil is like starting a car without gasoline.

LEGION IN JAPAN SUSPECTED

Natives Fail to Grasp Meaning of U. S. Organization

BY DUKE N. PARRY

TOKIO—(International News Service) — The American Legion member in Tokio, the morning after a legion meeting, feels somewhat like the hero in a Sherlock Holmes detective story. Referred to in an aside by the Japanese clerk in the office as an "American lieutenant," looked upon with some suspicion by his servants, who perhaps know, too, that he is connected with the organization of "American soldiers as they are known, he is in a peculiar position.

It is a fact that one American who holds a responsible position in Tokio, a position which carries with it the impression that he may know something of the plans of Uncle Sam in the Far East, was recently away from his office for a few hours when a Japanese employed in the firm asked a comrade of this American, also identified actively with the Tokio-Yokohama post of the American Legion, "how many Germans did he kill in France?"

Japanese, despite continued attempts at explanations, are unable to get the American's real meaning of the American Legion. Translated into Japanese the expression American Legion means "Gugin Dan," or "legion of military men." Going on this translation the Japanese who sees a legion member immediately takes him for an American military reservist, and, despite the fact that Americans here frequently take the trouble to explain this fact, there seems to be no way sufficiently convincing the Japanese that the "Gugin dan" is not a body of men with concealed arms and ammunition, ready for an attack on their hosts.

JAS IN HAWAII

"The American Legion," said an old American resident of Tokio recently, "is misunderstood in Japan much the same way that Japanese living in Hawaii is misunderstood. It is a fact that many Americans think that the Japanese in Hawaii is really a military man of Japan; that he is ready at any minute to go to war with America, and is always active in serving the cause of Japan. The Japanese suspect the Americans in the American Legion somewhat the same way, and insist on believing them military reservists."

An American Legion man, interviewed on the subject in Tokio recently, said: "The difference between the American Legion man and the Japanese citizen is a marked one and while that is one reason why the ignorant Japanese thinks the legion is a 'reservist' organization, it does not excuse the educated Japanese who pretends to look upon us with so much suspicion. An American cannot be a 'reservist' by being in the legion, and it known that America does not have the system that Japan has, and which compels the Japanese to be a real 'reservist.' Because the Japanese must be a reservist, due to the militaristic laws of the country, he feels that the American Legion is just a bit of camouflage to conceal a group of American reservists in Japan."

WOMAN SENTENCED TO WORKHOUSE, HUSBAND IS FINED FOR BEING DRUNK

Mrs. Bessie Kelley, 34, and husband, A. F Kelley, 27, 503 E. Market-st, must separate.

This was the ultimatum issued by Judge Jackson when they appeared in criminal court for the second time within two weeks, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct by using loud and profane language.

Bessie appeared in the court room in a torn dress, with one of her eyes swollen and black.

She held her hands over her face as the stern magistrate pronounced a fine of $25 and a sentence of 30 days in the Toledo workhouse.

Her husband then appeared and the Judge fined him $15 and told him that the next time he would get a trip to Toledo

Bessie was arrested early Sunday morning by Officer Glover. Neighbors complained that she was disturbing them by her loud and profane language.

Shortly before noon Sunday her husband appeared at city prison and asked to see his wife Officers say he was so drunk he was unable to climb the stairs and they lodged him behind the bars

Both testified that they had been drinking Jamaica ginger, purchased at a Wayne-st grocery store.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Mr Hindleton appeared at his neighbor's door one evening in a towering rage and uttering fierce threats against his neighbor's dog, Pongo.

Vainly the neighbor tried to explain that Pongo was only a pup.

"It belongs to Johnny," he said, "and it would break his heart if anything happened to it. I think," hopefully, "that its manners will improve."

"Manners!" repeated Hindleton. "I'm not complaining of its manners, but its nature. After it had jumped all over me it bit the back of my leg."

"That's as far as it can reach," broke in Johnny, in a wounded tone. "You don't expect a little pup like that to bite a big man like you on the neck, do you?"

Priscilla Dean tells of a little girl who was lost in a bargain sale rush at a Los Angeles department store. The child had become separated from her mother and was screaming lustily.

"Why didn't you hang on to your mother's skirt in such a crowd?"

"Me couldn't reach it!" bawled the youngster.

"What's the matter?" cried Mrs Jones when Bobby came running into the house in tears, dragging his little tin sword behind him and rubbing the seat of his trousers. "I thought you were having such a good time playing soldier."

"We were," sobbed Bobby, "and I was Sherman, and papa heard me."

CITY AUDITOR WARNS COUNCIL TO SLOW UP ON SEWER LEGISLATION

Members of council will be asked to go slow on proposed construction of additional sewerage, by City Auditor David L. Rupert at council meeting tonight. At the last meeting of the council, $25,000 was appropriated to provide plans for an additional sewer project, the cost of which is estimated at more than a million dollars.

"We have all we can bite off at present," Auditor Rupert said Monday. More than $3,000,000 worth of sewers are under contract and authorized, he said and under the present assessed valuation, the city cannot undertake much more.

Another question to be considered by the council will be that of securing a captured German cannon for Lima. Congressman John Cable has written Mayor Burkhardt, that enemy ordnance captured by the A E F., is available for distribution.

MINISTER BREAKS NUPTIAL RECORD

Marrys 5,000 Couples During 46 Years as Pastor

REACHES GOAL OF LIFETIME

Interesting Episodes Are Recalled by Omaha Parson

OMAHA, Neb.—(By International News Service) The goal of a life-time was reached here recently when the Rev. Charles W. Savidge, Omaha's "marrying parson," tied the nuptial knot for the five thousandth time in his extensive cradling up career.

Five thousand couple in forty-six years, and $35,000 in wedding fees! The Rev Mr Savidge challenges the regularly-ordained pastors of the entire U S to match his match making attainments.

In three ponderous tomes, written in Mrs Savidge's hand, the entries into double bliss via the Rev. Mr Savidge are kept by a sort of double-entry system, each bride and bridegroom being allotted a serial number. Naive asides, in red ink, recount human interest incidents of many of the couples.

What romances are contained in that record of almost half a century!

No. 1313 Was Disastrous

As he thumbed over the yellowed records, Mr Savidge chanced upon many interesting episodes.

There was wedding No. 3557. A young girl, pretty and penniless, lying ill of scarlet fever in the Emergency Hospital, found life worth living when her lover, a brave young tar of the U. S. S Tallahassee, came all the way from the west coast to marry her. The Rev Mr. Savidge has performed many marriages when one of the contracting parties was ill in bed, but none at which he more gladly officiated.

And take wedding No. 1313, a disasterous affair, proving conclusively the jinx of the unlucky number. The groom committed suicide three days after the ceremony.

FEE PAID IN SAPLINGS

"The oddest couple I ever married was No. 34, way back in '82, when I was a pastor at Mankato Minn," said Mr Savidge. "He was eighty-three, she was seventy-two. She was his fourth wife and he gave me the smallest fee I ever received, some saplings for the church yard. But they got ashamed of themselves and died.

"You just ought to have seen that couple!" he laughed. "Funniest-looking pair I ever married. He had been living all alone in a little shanty on a secluded hillside, but he'd fixed himself up for the occasion the best he knew how. And so had she. Hair slicked back with grease, beard parted and brushed out, bandana handkerchief tied around the neck of a soft shirt, and a cut-away coat—that was the groom. Funny little old bonnet, corkscrew curls, a stiff black dress with hoop skirts—that was the bride. But they lived happily ever after, even tho they didn't have long to live.

"I don't know which was the youngest couple I ever married. But I've married many that had to have their parents' consent. And, I presume, I've married some who lied about their ages.

PRAYER FOLLOWED BY $50 FEE

"The largest fee I ever received was $50. I prayed eight hours for that. I needed that amount to pay for a new buggy. I didn't tell the bridegroom so, but I told the Lord. And He put it into the heart of that man to hand me five $10 bills.

"The most famous man I ever married was Joe Stecher.

"The meanest bridegroom I ever married was No. 849. Nice-appearing chap, Charles W. McKnown. Told me he was a minister's son. But just three days after I pronounced the words which made him and Mrs Alice T. Coffee, of Omaha, man and wife I found out that he had thirteen different wives on his trail. And a St. Patrick's Day wedding it was, at that.

FIFTY DOUBLE WEDDINGS

"I've officiated at more than fifty double weddings. There are at least thirty re-marriages on my books. I'll tell you that's what does a person's heart good—when people have had foolish quarrels and have been divorced, only to find that they can't live without each other.

"The largest wedding I ever had was at Lakeview last July, when 10,000 people witnessed the ceremony. That was also the noisiest wedding. My quietest weddings were marriages of deaf mutes. I've officiated at ten of them.

"My earliest wedding was at 1:30 a. m., a couple from Des Moines, whose train had been delayed."

The Rev. Mr Savidge has many "regular customers" at his matrimonial counter. In several instances he has officiated at a woman's first and second marriage. He has married whole families of brothers and sisters, and in dozens of cases has married the son or daughter of a couple whom he married early in his career. Literally hundreds of names appear on his books, first as witnesses and later as brides and grooms. For instance, Groom No. 4990, entered recently, was witness to wedding No. 3700, which occurred four years ago. Thirteen hundred couples in three years! Wider days have come thick and fast in these later days, and what with a growing matrimonial business, a job as counsellor, and assisting in the celebration of dozens of silver weddings, the Rev Mr. Savidge is a very busy man.

PLANS TO MOVE TO SEATTLE

But now that he has attained his goal he is contemplating moving to Seattle, Wash., retiring from active life, to write a book entitled "Unequally Yoked." He believes he could embody in such a volume a great deal of valuable advice to persons choosing life partners.

"Marriage is the natural state of man and woman, too," stoutly declares the Rev Mr. Savidge, who does everything in his power to encourage the unmated to find companionship.

But he wants it understood that it is no trivial matter.

"Anything so excellent, so beautiful, so noble and lasting as marriage should not be entered into lightly," he says. "I often ask a girl to take out her gum or a man to dispense with his cigar when they come to me to be married.

"Oh, we dropped in just as we were, they tell me.

"Then you are making a bad mistake," I answered. "A wedding is much more likely to be happy when people take thought for the ceremony. Why, I ordered a $75 suit made for my own wedding in the days when $35 was considered a huge price. And there never was a happier couple than Mrs. Savidge and I.'"

BRIDE'S MIRROR IN OFFICE

Both in his downtown office and his home study the Rev. Mr. Savidge keeps a beautiful mirror, so that the bride may tuck in the last stray hair just before the ceremony.

"It's scriptural," he explained. "Can the bride forget her attire the Bible asks, and from my personal observation of just 5,000 of them I answer, emphatically, NO!"

"What will you do when you get to heaven, where we are told there are no marriages?" was the next question.

"Wait for my couples to come up," was his instant answer.

"I DOUBTED IT YEAR AGO BUT IT IS DIFFERENT NOW"

Kidneys bothered him, back ached so bad wore plasters all the time, stomach out of order. Dreco gave relief which was lasting. Read both letters.

Springfield, Ohio, Feb. 28th, 1920.

Mr Milo Douglas, well known Truck Farmer and gardener who lives on R R No. 11, says, "My kidneys caused me to get up during the night and the pain in my back was so bad I couldn't stoop nor bend. I wore plasters on my back for five or six years, but they didn't do any permanent good.

"It seemed like everything I ate turned to gas and bloated me up and I was so constipated my bowels refused to act naturally. I felt altogether unfit for work.

"I made up my mind to see what Dreco would do for me and I tell you I am feeling better than I have in years. I feel like I must have a new back, for it don't hurt a bit and can lift heavy weights without feeling it, I can sleep the night thru without having to get up, my bowels move naturally, I digest my food without having gas to form. In fact I am doing more work and heavier work now than I have in a long time."

Springfield, Ohio, April 2nd, 1921.

"If some one had come to me a little over a year ago, and told me that today I could do the work I am now doing I would have had every reason in the world to disbelieve their statement," says Mr. Douglas during a second interview.

"It was Dreco and nothing else that gave back my lost strength and banished the pains in my back and stomach.

"I distinctly remember the time when I used to wear plasters on my back, constantly, now should anyone mention this to me it would cause me to laugh. Dreco is the only thing that I have ever heard of that gives lasting relief. My relief is permanent for I have not had the slightest symptoms of any of my former troubles returning. I am very grateful to Dreco for the work it has done and recommend it highly."

Dreco is being specially introduced by Baldwin's Central Drug Store, corner Main and High-sts in Lima, and sold by all druggists.—Adv.
